150 YANKEES IN DAMASCUS ARE PERILED

Druse Tribesmen Capture Part of Ancient City in Warfare Against French CONSUL IS ALARMED

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Officially advised that the Druse tribesmen, of Syria, had captured part of the city of Damascus in their warfare with France, the American government today ordered two American destroyers to proceed at once to the eastern Mediterranean to protect American lives. The French are threatening bombardment of Damascus, where 1550 Americans are now living. American Consul Paul Knabenhuis, at Beirut, advised the state department. The official spokesman for the state department regards the Near East situation as quite serious, it was said, following announcement of orders transmitted from Secretary of State Kellogg to the navy department. The two destroyers, now at Gibraltar, are proceeding at once to Alexandria, Egypt. Every effort will be made to protect the lives of the approximately 1000 Americans in the region of the Druse-French guerilla warfare, which appears to have flamed into a critical stage after six months of intermittent fighting. The sending of destroyers, it was officially stated, is a direct result of the revolt of the Druse tribesmen. The destroyers may be used to remove refugees from Damascus, it was officially indicated. They will proceed, probably from Alexandria to Beirut, and thence to Damascus, if needed. No word has been received at the department from Consul Keeley, at Damascus.

ROBINSON NAMED TO U. S. SENATE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 21.—Approval of the appointment of Arthur R. Robinson, Indianapolis attorney, as the new U. S. senator from Indiana, was expressed today by Clyde A. Wain, Republican state chairman, and other organization leaders. Selection of Robinson to fill the vacancy left by the death of Senator Ralston was announced last night by Governor Jackson. Robinson will serve until Dec. 1, 1926. A senator to fill the remainder of Ralston's term until 1929 will be chosen at the state election next year. Robinson is pledged to give full support to the policies of President Coolidge, Governor Jackson said, in announcing the appointment.

Warship Engages In Battle Firing

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Oct. 21.—The booming of big guns of the U. S. battle fleet gave the harbor district one of its periodic shake-ups today, the first in many months. The dreadnaught West Virginia opened fire with her 16-inch main batteries in the first round of short-range battle practice off San Clemente island. Battle firing for other ships of the fleet will follow before the end of the week.

DRY ENFORCEMENT EFFORT FRUITLESS UNLESS PUBLIC ASSISTS, SAYS PRESIDENT

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—President Coolidge does not intend to let criticism of alleged lax prohibition enforcement become a political weapon of administration opponents. He will stand upon the argument that law observance in the long run depends upon willing co-operation of the people. This political significance was seen in official circles today in the president's address here last night to the annual council of Congregational churches. He appealed to the religious and moral forces of the country to supplement the efforts of the government. "The utmost ingenuity on the part of those powers will be substantially all wasted in an effort to enforce the law if there does not exist a strong and vigorous determination on the part of the people to observe the law, the president said. "Such a determination cannot be produced by the government," he added. Law enforcement is especially difficult at this time, Mr. Coolidge pointed out, because of the complexity of modern life and the crime and violence which "always follow in the wake of war."

$130,000 Paid For Stock Exchange Seat

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A membership in the New York stock exchange has been sold for $130,000 and arrangements have been made, subject to the approval of the board of governors for the sale of another seat at $135,000. The last previous sale was for $126,000. The increasing price for seats is due to the enormous activity of the market.

CONGRESSMAN IN ATTACK ON INCOME LAW

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Only an expert bookkeeper can furnish a correct return under the present federal income tax law, Representative Albert Johnson, Washington, Republican, told the house ways and means committee today in advocating a simple honor system for assessment and collection of taxes on incomes under $10,000 a year. "Congressmen who make the tax laws are submitting returns which are only 30 per cent correct," he said. Johnson asserted his own return was only 20 per cent legal. Small business and professional men are unable to obtain the benefits of allowances granted them under the present statute because of its complicated nature, he declared. Johnson said the small business man should be permitted to make out a "one sheet" return without the legal complications now required. Johnson said he visited towns of from 2000 to 10,000 population in his home state of Washington this summer and found that the average small business and professional man knew nothing of keeping books to take advantage of the present intricate tax law. He said they were willing to pay one-half per cent or some similar small figure on an honor system. Johnson predicted that, if such a system were adopted, the government in the long run would get more revenue. Congressional Democratic leaders today took up the cry for repeal of incomes of less than $5000 a year, with the purpose of making it one of their chief issues against the administration in next year's congressional elections.

Cardinal Injured As Car Hits Auto
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—Cardinal Dougherty, head of the Catholic archdiocese of Pennsylvania, was injured today when a street car crashed into his automobile. His car was standing stalled on the tracks outside Carmelite convent grounds, on the York road here. The automobile was hurled 50 feet. The cardinal was bruised and shaken, but not seriously hurt. His secretary, Dr. Cornelius O'Hara, who accompanied him, suffered from bruises and shock and was taken to a hospital.

Captain of Liner Slain by Officer

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Antwerp correspondent of the Central News reported today that Chief Officer Thomas A. Towers, of the Canadian Pacific liner Melita, shot and killed the liner's captain, Captain Clews, seriously wounded the assistant chief engineer, David K. Gilmore and Junior Second Engineer John Holiday, during an alleged row ashore. The Melita was due to sail today. Towers was arrested.

27 RESCUED BY LINER IN MID-OCEAN

Freighter Ignatio Florio, Wrecked by Bad Storm At Sea, Goes to Bottom OF ITALIAN REGISTRY

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Twenty-seven members of the crew of the Italian freighter Ignatio Florio were rescued in mid-Atlantic by the steamer President Harding, according to a wireless message received at the United States lines offices today. This accounts for all aboard the freighter, which was abandoned in heavy seas. The President Harding is bringing the rescued men to New York. The rescue was executed with difficulty in position 49:50 north; 37:45 west, at 11 p. m., Tuesday. A message from Captain Greening, of the President Harding, said the Ignatio Florio was in "a sinking condition" when abandoned at 9 a. m. today. The steamer F. S. Elvin was standing alongside when the liner returned to her course with the survivors safely on board. It was 10:30 a. m., Monday, when the President Harding, bound for New York, left her course in response to the "SOS" call from the Florio, appeals never ignored by mariners. The seas were mountainous when the freighter finally was sighted and for 12 hours the big liner stood by, helpless to remove the Florio's crew. The Florio was listing dangerously, her rudder was gone and her lifeboats smashed and two of her officers were badly injured. Keeping her searchlights playing on the crippled freighter, the President Harding finally effected a dramatic rescue as the storm abated.

WALL STREET HAS SIXTH BOOM DAY
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The sixth successive boom market was witnessed in the stock exchange today. A wide variety of stocks held tenaciously on their recent gains in heavy trading. Sales for the day totaled 2,622,000, the fifth time in as many full days that the 2,200,000 mark has been passed. Industrial and railroad stocks led the march into new high territory, with Southern railway, New York Central and B. and O. in the lead. Cheaper money sped the advances and gave impetus to the "boom." The rate for demand funds dropped to 4 1/2 per cent after renewing at 4 1/2 per cent.

Receives $30,000 When Dog Dies

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Instead of $15,000 to her by her daughter, Mrs. Anna Russell, New York, today was winner of $30,000 because she contested the $20,000 trust fund left by Mrs. Mary A. Sims to provide for "Lady," a dog. The dog died while Mrs. Russell was contesting the will here and by agreement she shares the $60,000 estate with two cousins, Herman Ghent and Eva Gruber of New Jersey.

Hold Allies Must Fulfill Promises

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—Premiers of the German states today told Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann that allied fulfillment of promises concerning Rhine evacuation was imperative before Germany approves the Locarno pacts. While Nationalist opposition was still noted, it was predicted this would ebb, once the evacuation of Cologne is undertaken.

Boy Patricide Is Sent Up for Life

ALLISON, Ia., Oct. 21.—Warren Vandervoort, 17, who shot and killed his father, the Rev. R. J. Vandervoort, today started to the state penitentiary where he is to serve the remainder of his life. Late yesterday, Judge C. H. Kelley sentenced the youthful patricide to life imprisonment.

Costs Woman $5 Fine to Powder Nose

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—It cost Mrs. Laurence Hart Allen $5 to powder her nose. Mrs. Allen was fined that amount for parking her automobile in a forbidden zone. "I just stopped to powder my nose," she told the court.

MAYHEM CASE JURY FAILS TO REACH VERDICT

Disagreement of the jury in the case of Karl H. Goetze, charged with mayhem, left the fate of the defendant in doubt today, with the answer probably to be supplied next Friday, the time tentatively selected for fixing the date of a new trial. There was no certainty, however, that Goetze will be tried again. District Attorney A. P. Nelson not having decided whether to proceed further with the case. When the jury was discharged by Superior Judge Z. B. West, at 8:50 o'clock last night, after deliberating fruitlessly on a verdict since 2:24 p. m., the case was put on the court calendar for next Friday, at 9 a. m., to be reset for trial. If the district attorney decides to drop the prosecution, the case will be dismissed at that time, court attaches say. The present underground channels of information on jury affairs, were seemingly closed today and there were no rumors regarding the alignment of the jurors.

2 MEET DEATH IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—Two dead and five injured was the toll of traffic accidents in Los Angeles and vicinity the last 24 hours. George Bernier, 73, died from injuries received when he was struck down by an automobile driven by P. Zeolla. John Meng, 57, night watchman, was killed when his automobile collided with another driven by J. W. Tanner. Five other persons suffered serious injuries in a series of auto accidents on Los Angeles streets.

Governor Refuses To Talk Politics

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—Gov. Friend W. Richardson refused to affirm or deny today his suggested candidacy for re-election. The California executive declared from his branch offices here that he had "given no thought to politics," and added furthermore that he "was in no hurry" to make any pronouncements affecting his own political future. "Let the others do the talking," he said. "I'm too busy to think about a political campaign." Governor Richardson conferred with Los Angeles county authorities today concerning the parole of "Big Hutch" Hutchings, alleged swindler, from San Quentin prison.

Black Hand Feud Takes Two Lives

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 21.—Police today believed a Black Hand feud responsible for a fight which resulted in the deaths of two men here last night. Charles Casco, 45, and a man known only as "Jim" were killed and Carlo Farris, Casco's brother-in-law, was wounded.

Elmer Firestone Expires Suddenly

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—Elmer Firestone, 61, head of the Los Angeles branch of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company, died here today after a brief illness of heart disease. Firestone was taken suddenly ill while on a visit to Catalina island Sunday. He was brought to his home here and died at 2:40 o'clock this morning, with his wife and 7-year-old daughter at the bedside. The body will be sent to Columbia, O., for burial.

MITCHELL IS NOT WORRIED BY WAR TRIAL

Looks to Court-Martial As One More Step in His Fight on Plane Policy EXPECTS BIG CHANGES

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Col. William Mitchell, stormy petrel of the air, looked upon his court-martial today as another step in his fight for increased recognition of the air forces and a reorganization of the national defense system. Regardless of the outcome of the trial, which will start here October 28, he is confident the public will become thoroughly aroused and force congress to order drastic changes in the system to give aviation a dominant place. "Our present national defense system," Mitchell said, "is obsolete and on a bow and arrow scale. We are not better off from the defense standpoint than we were at the time of the Civil War. We are the only major power that does not recognize aviation as an important, decisive arm of national defense. We consider aviation as an auxiliary of the army and navy. "At the present time, nobody can say who is responsible for the defenses of the country. Our sea force, the navy, operates all over our land areas. Huge sums of money are being wasted." Mitchell characterized his court-martial as another "primitive" move, but said he was not worried over its outcome. Addressing the Washington Chamber of Commerce last night, Mitchell said the recent airplane accidents, in two of which six men were killed, were due to unskilled mechanics. Representative Frank B. Reid, Republican, of Illinois, Mitchell's chief civilian counsel, believes that Mitchell has sufficient evidence to prove "every word he has said."

Liner's Steward Held for Theft

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Walter Barry, 26, steward on the liner Matsonia, out of this port, was in custody here today after vainly trying suicide when arrested for theft of valuables from passengers aboard the vessel in the past four months. Barry, whose former home was in Chicago, stands accused as the leader of a ring of stateroom robbers. Police recovered $2500 worth of loot aboard the vessel and Barry promised to uncover other caches on the ship.

Churchmen Insist Upon Real Wine

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21.—The house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church, in convention here, has voted to refuse to accept soft drinks as a substitute for fermented wine in the communion service. It also voted to compel ministers to refer to their bishops all persons remarried after divorce who wish to take communion.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 21.—Max Weslow, 55-year-old merchant, was dead here today, run down by an automobile while attempting to cross a street near his home.

Arrest Woman On Mail Fraud Charge

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—Mail frauds totaling half a million dollars were charged against Mrs. Ena M. Harper, wealthy Hollywood land owner, in a federal indictment here today. Federal agents claim Mrs. Harper victimized hundreds of stockholders with a scheme to colonize a beautiful island off the coast of Mexico. William E. O'Brien, who acted as agent for the feminine promoter, was named jointly in the indictment.

DELAY SOUGHT IN ACTION ON RIVER POLICY

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The federal power commission today was asked to refrain from action that would commit the federal government to a policy in the development of the Colorado river basin, "until some of the states have definitely refused to accept the provisions of the Colorado river compact," by former Representative Mondell of Wyoming at the hearing on the Diamond creek license application. Mondell who served on the irrigation committee in congress, joined with other representatives of the upper western states in requesting that whether private or public grants are made, their rights be guaranteed. L. W. Bannister, of Denver, representing 53 mayors in the upper states, asked for a statement of definite policy from the federal power commission. "We urge one continuous and fixed policy for the fair distribution of these waters," he said. Secretary of War Davis replied to Mondell's request that the power commission postpone action on this and any other permits. "How much time do you think will be necessary before the states can settle this question?" Davis asked. Mondell reiterated his plea for delay until at least one state definitely refuses to agree with the others.

GRAND JURY WILL SIFT GEM MYSTERY

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—With each development in the $683,000 Donahue jewel robbery adding mystery in thick layers, the case will go to the grand jury today. James P. Donahue and his wife, the heiress to the Frank W. Woolworth fortune, have been subpoenaed to appear as witnesses. The leading witness, however, is expected to be Noel C. Scaffa, private detective, who is alleged to have paid a $50,000 reward for the return of the jewels to an unknown go-between, who gave his name as "Sam Layton."

THREATEN TO MARCH UPON CAPITAL CITY

Sofia Warned of Further Invasion Unless Nation Meets Orders by Athens FRONTIER IS CROSSED
While Europe Dreams of Peace, War Clouds Hang Low in Balkans and Asia

(By United Press)
ATHENS, Oct. 21.—Greece today sent an ultimatum to Bulgaria, declaring that Greek troops will advance further upon Sofia unless demands upon the Zankoff government regarding differences over the border question are complied with by Thursday noon. Greece demands satisfaction on account of the Bulgarian occupation of Demirhisar, together with heavy punishment for those responsible for the incident and indemnity for the families of those killed in the clash there. Greek forces have crossed the Bulgarian frontier and occupied Petritsi to compel compliance with the demands and to force Bulgaria to dissolve the comitadjis, who are charged with conspiring against the security of neighboring states.

FIGHTING CEASES ON BORDER REPORT

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Exchange Telegraph's Athens correspondent cabled today that the Greek legation at Sofia had reported Bulgaria proposes the prompt formation of a committee to investigate the Demirhisar incident. The government already has obtained immediate cessation of fighting.

WAR CLOUDS HANG OVER EAST TERRITORY

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Europe, dreaming of peace in the wake of the Locarno treaties, found today that the Balkan situation was a warlike ring came out of Morocco and the Near East. The French, despite heavy raids which have put a virtual end to major campaigning, made a brilliant capture of Djebel Nezaz, thereby cleaning up the last Rifian stronghold south of the Ouergha. From Beirut came reports of an insurrection on the outskirts of Damascus, with Druse tribesmen and mobs fighting the French forces, who triumphed finally over the rebels. The Balkan troubles were centered in the Macedonian region. Greece had sent a severe note demanding reparations and punishment for Bulgarian invaders of Demirhisar and had backed this action with occupation of Petritsi as a means of enforcing the demands and of compelling Bulgaria to put down the troublesome Comitadjis. Stories of Japanese anxiety over the present military movements in China were reported by the Tokio correspondent of the London Daily Express. Japan was said to fear the possibility of a new war with Russia in the Chinese general. Wu Pei Fu and Feng Yu Flang, should drive Chang Tso Lin out of Manchuria, thereby confronting Japan with loss of her concessions there. The correspondent stated Japan would fight rather than abandon her Manchurian rights. Behind this report was manifestly Japanese concern that a Wu Pei Fu-Feng Yu Flang combination would be a success would mean an attempt at Russian domination in Manchuria.

40 AND 8 OFFICERS WILL BE INSTALLED

Members of the Orange county voiture No. 537, Le Societe de 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, will tonight install new officers for the coming year. The meeting is to be held in the Santa Ana American Legion post home, on Birch street.

Entertainment for the meeting is expected to be the best of the entire year, with 16 actors and actresses from the West Coast organization in Los Angeles to present several scenes and musical numbers.

Joseph A. Plank, member of Santa Ana Post No. 131, will be installed as chef de gare. R. Mc-

REAL CARS WILL BE BARRED FROM STREET TO ALLOW LOTS OF ROOM FOR WAGONS OF TIN

Parking of automobiles on Fourth street, between Birch and Main streets, and traffic on the same section of the street will be prohibited between 10:30 a. m. and 12 noon, Saturday, it was announced today by Mayor J. W. Tubbs.

The "flivver" parade by Shriner of Southern California will require all of the street width, it was stated by Tubbs, and the city council has issued instructions to the police department to clear the street of all vehicles.

Full width of the street is required to give the patrol opportunity to execute some of its fancy maneuvers, it was pointed out today by Charles Cogan, president of the Orange County Shrine club.

Eddie Pullen, famous racing driver, who will pilot one of the wrecks in the parade that will wind its way over portions of Birch, Fourth, Main and Third streets, according to a statement by R. L. Bisby, chairman of the publicity committee. Bisby says that he has assurance from Pullen that the flivver he will drive will "flivver" the full route of the parade.

In automobile races, Pullen's chief concern has been whether he would get home alive, but in the event scheduled for Santa Ana, he will be worried only as to whether he will get his car home alive," Bisby said.

14 Wrecks Entered.
Stating that junk heaps, garages and barns have been searched for relics of the past, George Dunton said that 14 tin antiques have been entered by Orange county Shriners and that members of Al Malaikah temple in Los Angeles county so far had listed only 15 machines. More will be entered later, Dunton expected.

"It is possible we will not have as many cars in line as we at first anticipated, but I am certain that what is lacking in numbers will be made up in the quality of exhibits," Dunton said, as he pointed out that shriners who enter cars will not spare expense in fixing their cars to meet the spirit of the occasion.

The parade is scheduled to start at 10:45 a. m., and Cogan says the procession will move on time, as all who are to participate have been warned there must be no "fluke" in the starting hour, for the temple has a big program on for the afternoon.

Sheriff Sam Jernigan has arranged to have a squad of motorcycle officers lead the procession and control traffic on the streets and at street intersections.

Following the officers will come Jernigan in his own car and riding with him will be Col. Henry C. Aklin, of Santa Ana, past imperial potentate, and Louis Cole, potentate of Al Malaikah temple.

Band in Parade.
Al Malaikah band of 75 pieces will follow and immediately behind it will be the chanters, an organization that has taken prizes in many east-

Calla, Santa Ana, chef de train; C. W. Nussbaumer, Santa Ana, commissaire; E. N. Fogue, Santa Ana, correspondent; Frank Vaughn, Newport, conductor; Paul Cassidy, Santa Ana, garde de la porte; G. Hendrickson, Santa Ana, campiste and G. Struble, Santa Ana, cheminot, also will be installed.

Activities are to begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

CHARGE SECRET OIL PIPE LINE IN COURT SUIT

Use of secret valves and pipe lines for carrying away oil without knowledge of the land owner, in order to evade payment of royalties, was charged today in an injunction and damage suit filed by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Clapp and Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Edwards, of Huntington Beach, against the Julian Oil Well Pump company, the Gypsy Oil company and William Meredith.

The plaintiffs, who claim ownership of five lots leased to the defendants, demand an accounting of royalties and $10,000 damages for the alleged secret diversion of oil. They also seek an injunction against the oil company, to prevent them from removing drilling equipment now on the ground. A decree quieting title against the oil lease likewise is sought.

Proceedings were instituted in superior court through Attorney A. J. Thedieck, of Huntington Beach.

The owners leased the lots in March, 1921, to Meredith who subsequently assigned the lease to the Gypsy Oil company, according to the complaint. Later the Julian Oil Well Pump company took charge of the lease and operated a well that was brought in there. The well is said to have been producing for more than two years. About two months ago, the land owners declare, they discovered the alleged use of secret valves and pipe lines at their well.

DRESS OF 125 YEARS AGO TO BE WORN HERE

The fashion show, to be staged by a group of well known women as one of the features in the "Pim Pink" at the Y.M.C.A. on Friday evening, is to be the star number of the whole show, according to Mrs. R. R. Russick, who has charge of this "revue."

Those who will appear are selected from the Tuesday gymnasium classes conducted by the Y.W.C.A. First to be shown is the proper costume for a pair of twins, age 4 years. With them will be seen a modern grandmother. An elaborate equestrienne costume will be a novelty in these days of automobiles, and along with it will be shown the correct garb for motoring.

"Discomfort" will be the theme of a costume indicating the trend of designers who desire to bring back the long skirt and high neck and other relics of the days before hair was bobbed. As a matter of comparison, there will be introduced a bathing costume of 1895. In deference to the board of censors, Mrs. Russick says that the bathing suit of 1925 will not be presented.

Much interest attaches to one gown which will be worn in the show, a house dress which is actually 125 years old, and which will represent the style of 1800. This dress is an heirloom of Mrs. Russick's family, and will present a striking revelation of the contrast in styles.

This fashion show will be only one of 10 entertaining features to be seen Friday evening at the Y.M.C.A., beginning at 8 o'clock, to which the public is invited.

TUMORS OF GUSHER
PROVE UNFOUNDED

Investigations disclosed that there was no foundation for wild rumors yesterday that the Stan-ard Oil company had brought in gusher on the Santa Ana Gar-sons tract southwest of the city.
According to the best information obtainable, the well now is own 5037 feet, the drill having pen sunk more than 300 feet
since the company three weeks ago altered drilling temporarily for a venting job.
At the time of cementing, it was reported that the drilling had gone rough 40 feet of oil sand, but was emphatically denied by representative of the drilling company.
As against this declaration was known fact that the company immediately became active in securing leases in the district.

The Well-Dressed Man
By BEAUNASH

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

has to go by. Just as it is impossible to look like a hero in a night-shirt, so you cannot convey the impression of a gentleman without correct dress and careful grooming, the outward evidences of inward refinement.
These things bespeak culture and courtliness, appreciation of the inner side of life and of the higher obligations of a man in relation to his fellow-men. Granted that, as we used to scrawl in our copy-books, an honest man is the noblest work of God, the noblest work of man is to make the utmost of those physical advantages with which Nature has endowed him. This is a debt that he owes to himself.
Weatherproofed garments do not find the wide use in this country that they have in England. This is due to the more uncertain climate of the British Isles. Nevertheless, the vogue of such coats is noticeably on the gain and the possession of one is essential to the correct and complete wardrobe. The weatherproofed coat may be of wool, ran-dered water-tight by special process, or it may be of rubber, silk-and-rubber, oiled silk, elephant skin, improved mackintosh cloth and so on, heavy, light or middling in weight, as preferred.
College youths are still very partial to the sailor-like "slicker" or "sou-wester" type of weatherproofed garment, because of its amazing convenience and its rough-and-ready looks. One of these is pictured in the accompanying sketch. It is long, loose and fastens right-and-left to the neck for complete protection. It may have the conventional buttons or metal clasps. Knee-length coats are favorites of gentlemen who find them capital when rain sluices the links. Instead of the darker gloomy colors for shower-proofed garments those now in vogue are light and bright.

Local Briefs

The Cummings evangelistic tent at Fairview and Broadway was crowded to its utmost capacity last evening to hear Jeanne de Bard of Los Angeles, a little 6-year-old child tell the story of "The Life of Christ" with illustrations, depicting His birth, death and ascension. She gave a graphic account of each scene in the Saviour's life as it was presented on the canvas.
Received with expressions of respect among local business men was word today of the sudden death of Charles L. Estey, an advertising and sales counsel of national prominence, who for the last two years was a resident of Los Angeles. In addition to appearing before local service clubs, he was the principal speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Santa Ana Merchants' and Manufacturers' association, held last year at St. Ann's Inn.

ENDLESS CHAIN CATCHES MANY
SANTA ANANS

Hundreds of women, men and even school children in Santa Ana today are watching with interest the outcome of the arrest yesterday, in Los Angeles, of two men, said to be officials of the Golden State Sales corporation. A third man, wanted by the police, was
"out" when the officers called.
Uncounted thousands of men and women in all walks of life have been enrolled in the "endless chain" plan of selling hosiery by the corporation, according to Ferris R.
Miller, manager of the Better Business bureau, of Los Angeles, who initiated the investigation, which culminated in the arrest of the company's officers.
The two men arrested are Joseph Jaufman, who is said to be the head of the corporation, and S. J.
Blanc, manager. Ned Blanc, said to be the third promoter, is being sought by the police. The men are charged with false advertising.

Was Effective Plan
The corporation's plan of operation was simple but highly effective, Miller stated. It began with the sale of a certificate and three coupons, all for $4, to one individual. This person, in turn, sold his three coupons to three other individuals, thus getting a return of $3 on his or her investment. This left the original purchaser's investment at $1. But if the three persons to whom he or she sold the coupons reported to the corporation and in their turn bought three more coupons each, the original investor would receive five pairs of "full-fashioned" silk hose, valued at approximately $10.
In this way, Miller stated, the corporation was enabled to sell $10 worth of merchandise for $13. But even this was not always certain, he pointed out. If any of the three coupon buyers failed to buy three additional coupons from the corporation in their turn, the original investor received nothing, the corporation profiting to this extent.

Spread Like Fire
The plan spread like wildfire,
Miller stated, and had no end.
School children, teachers, housewives, clerks, stenographers and many men, believing they had an opportunity to get $10 worth of merchandise for $1, fell for the plan. Some received the merchandise, but those whose friends failed to report to the corporation for more coupons to sell to their friends simply lost out unless they paid $6 more to the corporation, thus making their total investment $10, the price of the merchandise, which they were to receive.

It is understood that numerous Santa Ana persons were caught in the "endless chain" and hundreds in the city are said to be holding Western Sales corporation coupons at the present time.
A small advertisement appearing in a Los Angeles newspaper and stating the details of the plan only in part led to the issuance of the warrants charging false advertising.

Oil Settlement Conference Is Colorful Affair

A conference in Los Angeles last week, at which a $27,000 settlement was made in connection with a court judgment growing out of the Pacific corporation accounting suits here, was a "colorful" affair, according to Attorney Ben E. Tarver, of Santa Ana, who is receiver for the Pacific corporation.
The "color" was provided by the presence of a Mr. Brown, a Mr.
White, a Mr. Gray and two men Blacks among the conferees. Under the settlement reached, the Brown Process company, of Long Beach, paid $27,000 to the receiver, in satisfaction of a judgment for approximately that amount, rendered by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams in the case of A. J. Charlie against the Pacific corporation and others. The total judgment given against various defendants was nearly $180,000.
The conference was attended by Mr. Brown, of the Brown Process company, Mr. White, of the Interstate Oil company, Messrs. Black, of the law firm of Black, Hammack and Black, counsel for Brown and White, Ben Gray, attorney for the receiver, and Tarver, also ex-Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe.
There were three Bens at the conference: Ben Tarver, Ben Gray, and Ben Bledsoe.

GETS LONG TERM
ON BOOZE CHARGE

Charged with possession of intoxicating liquor after sheriff's officers had raided his home in Garden Grove and confiscated a 25-gallon still and a large quantity of alleged "moonshine" liquor, Antonio Rodarto, 53, pleaded guilty in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court early today and was sentenced to serve 500 days in the county jail.
The raid on the Garden Grove
home was made by Officers Ed
McClellan, chief criminal deputy;
D. D. Adams, his assistant, and Jack Coombs and Ray Wallace,
Deputy sheriffs.
Tisco Imegues, 43, found in the house at the time of the raid, also was arrested and spent last night in the county jail. He was released today when Rodarto took the credit for having the still and alleged whiskey.
The still, said to be a well constructed one, and approximately 12 gallons of alleged booze was brought to the sheriff's office.

Boy and Matches,
Fire Department,
And That's All

Frank Was Jr., 5-year-old son of the vice president of the First National bank, was playing in his father's garage at 517 Orange avenue, at 11 o'clock today, when he decided he would like to know what kind of a fire feathers would make.
He struck a match and tossed it on a pillow.
After "Junior" had seen the fire department from Central station make a wild dash to his house, and after Chief John Luxembourg had scolded him sufficiently, he came to the conclusion that he would not play with matches any more.
There was no damage.

INVESTIGATION STARTED INTO DEATH OF BABE

Following the finding of the un-clothed body of a new-born child lying near the Santa Fe railroad tracks, close to the Orange-Riverside county line late Sunday, Coroner Charles D. Brown today launched an investigation into the death of the baby, who apparently was not wanted and whose body,
wrapped in a Seattle newspaper, was placed beside the tracks to leave the impression that it had been tossed from a train window.
Brown returned here late yesterday from Riverside with the body and it is being kept at the Smith and Tutill funeral parlors.
The body was found at a place in Orange county near Sulphur Slide, by a Santa Fe track walker, who carried it to Riverside, where he made a report of his find.
Santa Fe railroad detectives working on the case are of the opinion that the body was not thrown from a train, in that the paper in which it was wrapped was not broken. The newspaper is a copy of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, dated September 6.
Coroner Brown is today having the body examined in an effort to determine when death took place.

Police News

Charged with disturbing the peace, Vincent Mogart, 18, was brought to the Orange county jail Monday afternoon from Fullerton, to begin a 60-day term in jail.

Sheriff Sam Jernigan has been asked to aid in the search being made for Herbert Baer, 13-year-old son of C. J. Baer, 1920 Maple street, who left home last Sunday morning and who has not returned. The boy was described as being four feet, eight inches in height, blue eyes, dark hair and of slim build.
At the time he was last seen he was wearing a dark sweater and dark knee pants. He was barefooted and without a hat.

Charged with vagrancy, Herbert
L. Roop, 19, and George Nichols, 19, who told officers they were from Chicago, were each given a sentence of 30 days in the county jail when they were found guilty of the charge, in Justice Morrison's court today. Both men were arrested, yesterday afternoon, on the Irvine boulevard by officers from the sheriff's office.

A bit of Old Spain

-with rich red Pioneer Shingles

Gay senoritas, the click of castanets and the strumming of guitars—a bit of old Spain. Such a scene, when transplanted to California in a Spanish type home, can be given just the proper touch of color, with a roof of rich red Pioneer Shingles. The shades in Pioneer Shingles add a picturesque contrast to walls of stucco or adobe.

And the beauty of Pioneer Shingles is not alone in their non-fading colors. They are rugged in texture—of long-fibre felt, asphalt coated, with a surface of crushed rock from Yosemite. A combination in the shingle, itself, that means economy, beauty, durability and fire-safety.

Pioneer products are sold by Lumber, Building Material and Hardware Dealers.

SCHOOL NEWS

Roosevelt

There have been flowers everywhere at Roosevelt lately. Every teacher has been the recipient of a flower shower. The children have been exceedingly clever in keeping their plans secret, in their effort to give each teacher a complete surprise.

The high and low sixth grades joined in carrying out a musical program last Thursday. This was a part of their weekly club meetings. The program was given over mainly to piano numbers, which were given by Catherine Smith and Elizabeth La Plante, representing the low sixth grade, and Sylvia Yielding from the high sixth. Hy-men Raymond gave a violin number which added to the pleasing program. Following this, the two clubs separated to carry on their own club affairs.

The new officers of the high sixth grade conducted the Thursday meeting. They are Marguerite Brown, president; Bessie Haddock, secretary; and Lucille Howell, treasurer. Sylvia Yielding is chairman of the program committee and is planning some interesting numbers for future dates.

The low sixth grade club with Darrell Gaebe as president, held a very worth while meeting. He was assisted by the secretary, Theola Ridgway. Catherine Smith as chairman of the program committee, had planned the interesting events which followed.

Vernice Wagner, Frank Musselman and Tom Patterson gave some splendid reports on the "History of Columbus." These reports were made more interesting by the showing of pictures relating to the subject, by J. D. Parsons.

The third grade club elected Lee Sundstrom as president. Their Friday meeting consisted of a discussion of suitable and interesting books for third grade children.

The first meeting of the P.-T. A. with Mrs. Irving Boething as president, was indeed a pleasant and worth while affair. A subject, vital to parents and children, was discussed, that of having distribution of milk in the Roosevelt school. This plan was warmly received and we hope that the day is not far away when this plan will materialize. After the business of the meeting had been disposed of, we enjoyed a program of a very high order. Mrs. Nelson Visel told of her proposed plans and aims in the new work she is doing in the schools. By way of illustrating her ideas concerning the teaching of expression, she brought with her, little Betty Jo Willetts and Yelma King, who gave two numbers. The complete naturalness and freedom of expression which these two children displayed was indeed gratifying. Mrs. Medbury sang two bright numbers in her particularly pleasing style. She was ably assisted by E. M. Sundquist at the piano. This number closed a well rounded program.

During the afternoon the various guidance clubs met with their directing teachers. These clubs have been established for the purpose of placing the students in the group of activities in which they are the most interested.

The Know-California club, under the leadership of Miss Kline met and outlined the activities of the club. Miss Kline felt it unwise to organize at this time and suggested that this be done after a membership drive had been made. The Astronomy club under Miss Brokaw's direction has elected officers and is planning to make notebooks explaining the various constellations, and to possibly go to the high school some evening for lessons about the stars.

The Art and Needlework club under Miss Foster's direction decided to interest its members in embroidery, crocheting and the other types of fancy work. As Christmas draws near, the club will have an exhibit of fancy work which promises to be most interesting. Julia Lathrop is greatly honored in receiving a silver medal embossed on ebony for having the most entrants in the Orange county fair sewing exhibit.

Anyone especially interested in the medal may see it in Miss Foster's room after school hours.

The ninth grade cooking classes are learning to make salads, and the seventh grade classes are busy planning appetizing menus that would almost put Washington Irving's description of Knickerbocker suppers in the background. Miss Sinker is very efficient in her work and turns out splendid cooks.

The Drama club is planning a play for the future and doing the necessary reading for this work. There has been a club in commercial Spanish organized for the benefit of those students who have never studied that language. This should be very useful to future business men and women of California.

The aim of the Success club is exemplified in its name. A study of the lives of successful and great men and women will help some of Lathrop students to fame, we hope. The Girl Reserves under Miss Brunner and the Girl Scouts under Miss Reed have organized and are planning hikes and various activities along that line.

Miss Nicholson's Travel club offers splendid opportunities for future globe trotters as well as those who remain at home. The Booklovers' club under Miss Blythe is planning poster work toward the guidance of the reading of the students and hopes to review and read several worth while books during the semester.

Mrs. Beeson is conducting piano classes for beginners every Tuesday afternoon. This is quite a privilege to those who can have Mrs. Beeson's splendid instruction and many students are taking advantage of the opportunity.

Julia Lathrop

Wednesday, October 14, was general assembly and club day at Julia Lathrop junior high school. During the forenoon a student body assembly was held in the bleachers. Virginia Pope, student body president, opened the meeting with a few well chosen remarks on school spirit as applied to student body government. Student body government at Julia Lathrop is proving a great success this year. Both teachers and students are very proud of the excellent work being done by the safety committee in the halls and on the grounds. The parliamentary practice and citizenship classes have reason to be proud also of the poise and ease with which the student body officers preside at the student assemblies.

Miss Curtis of the English department had charge of Wednesday's program, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the school children. The numbers included songs by the girls' and boys' glee clubs and a trio by Virginia Pope, Eugenia Gilbert and Eva Dean Caskey, accompanied by Helen Shaw. A French play called "The King's Cake," by Mrs. Curtis' French class was presented. This play, illustrating the old French custom of celebrating the twelfth night by a huge cake containing the gold bean which designated the queen, provided great amusement for the student audience—particularly the eating of the cake by the actors. The play was well done and was thoroughly enjoyed.

Harper Goff proved that two things can be done well at one time by playing a uke-banjo with his hands and a jazzier with his mouth. He played several popular songs to the satisfaction of his audience. Lathrop is fortunate in having quite a talented young violinist in Ralph Greer, who contributed to the program with a violin solo. Mrs. Greer accompanied Ralph on the piano.

During the afternoon the various guidance clubs met with their directing teachers. These clubs have been established for the purpose of placing the students in the group of activities in which they are the most interested.

The Know-California club, under the leadership of Miss Kline met and outlined the activities of the club. Miss Kline felt it unwise to organize at this time and suggested that this be done after a membership drive had been made. The Astronomy club under Miss Brokaw's direction has elected officers and is planning to make notebooks explaining the various constellations, and to possibly go to the high school some evening for lessons about the stars.

The Art and Needlework club under Miss Foster's direction decided to interest its members in embroidery, crocheting and the other types of fancy work. As Christmas draws near, the club will have an exhibit of fancy work which promises to be most interesting. Julia Lathrop is greatly honored in receiving a silver medal embossed on ebony for having the most entrants in the Orange county fair sewing exhibit.

Anyone especially interested in the medal may see it in Miss Foster's room after school hours.

The ninth grade cooking classes are learning to make salads, and the seventh grade classes are busy planning appetizing menus that would almost put Washington Irving's description of Knickerbocker suppers in the background. Miss Sinker is very efficient in her work and turns out splendid cooks.

The Drama club is planning a play for the future and doing the necessary reading for this work. There has been a club in commercial Spanish organized for the benefit of those students who have never studied that language. This should be very useful to future business men and women of California.

The aim of the Success club is exemplified in its name. A study of the lives of successful and great men and women will help some of Lathrop students to fame, we hope. The Girl Reserves under Miss Brunner and the Girl Scouts under Miss Reed have organized and are planning hikes and various activities along that line.

Miss Nicholson's Travel club offers splendid opportunities for future globe trotters as well as those who remain at home. The Booklovers' club under Miss Blythe is planning poster work toward the guidance of the reading of the students and hopes to review and read several worth while books during the semester.

Mrs. Beeson is conducting piano classes for beginners every Tuesday afternoon. This is quite a privilege to those who can have Mrs. Beeson's splendid instruction and many students are taking advantage of the opportunity.

Echophone Radios will please you.

Parent-Teachers

Spurgeon School
The P.-T. A. of the Spurgeon school held its first meeting of the year in the kindergarten room October 16.

The program was opened by a group of love songs sung by Mrs. Willits in a most charming manner. The girls of the sixth grade gave three musical numbers, one in Hallowe'en costume. All of the selections were thoroughly enjoyed.

In the business meeting which followed, it was voted to raise the dues to 50c a year, and other methods of raising money for the needs of the school were discussed.

Tea and cake were served by the mothers of the sixth grade pupils and a social hour was enjoyed.

There was a good attendance and a desire expressed to bring about closer relations between the school and the home.

John Muir School
The first meeting of the John Muir P.-T. A. was held in the kindergarten room at the school, October 13. The meeting was opened by the new president, Mrs. Ray Wickoff, with the first verse of the hymn "America" and the salute to the flag.

Teachers of the school were introduced to each other and presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

Then a playlet, "Discovery of America," was presented very creditably by the entire sixth grade.

Miss Bemus gave a talk on "Visual Education," introducing the motion picture to John Muir school.

There was a very interesting talk on "Better Movies" by Mrs. John Adams. Mrs. Adams spoke of the improvement in motion pictures in the last 15 years and remarked that the ideal picture for school children would not be made until pictures could be made solely for them and this, she thought, would be done in the near future.

Mrs. Helen Lee spoke on plans for the coming year. The president announced that a Hallowe'en entertainment was to be given by the pupils of John Muir school the latter part of the month.

Little Miss Elizabeth Dunton pleased all by the lovely piano solo, "To Spring," by Grieg. Miss Evangeline Bryant, first grade teacher, heading the membership drive which is developing into a keen race, announced that the John Muir P.-T. A. now had 90 members, an increase of 27 over last year. A treat is to be given the children of the grade which brings the most members and competition is very keen.

After the close of the program and business meeting, a social hour was enjoyed. Members found no trouble in getting acquainted as each wore a "tag" on which her name was written. The fourth grade mothers served refreshments during the social hour.

McKinley
Thursday afternoon the McKinley P.-T. A. held the first meeting of the season, which was a delight for all those present. The program began with the P.-T. A. song, which seemed to put gaiety into the rest of the numbers.

Miss Carroll's class gave a clever Hallowe'en stunt, which was followed immediately by Miss Clark's group of three little folk, who spoke in a very distinct and pleasing manner. Miss Metz's class performed some graceful exercises and little Jean Courtney, with her dolly, sang a beautiful lullaby.

Mrs. Holly Lash Visel spoke on "Expression" and what effect it had on the children. One of her pupils gave an interesting reading entitled "The Doll's Room," followed by an encore, "In the Mawrinn." Mrs. Visel told how the child might keep his own personality, create a love of beauty and carry is dreams of imagination into delightful realms which only the child will ever know.

Another popular speaker, Mrs. Earl Morris, talked to the mothers and guests on "The Child, the Mother and Its Need." Individual questions were put to the child and amazing answers were given by the small boys and girls. The mothers found out just what the small people are planning on doing when they "grow up."

Mrs. Morris introduced a book entitled "The Child, His Nature and Its Needs."

All mothers of the McKinley school are asked to enroll in the mothers' reading circle, which will be held in the kindergarten room, the date and time to be given by a committee in charge of this work. Each chapter is given special attention and should be very helpful.

Mrs. Morris told of the preparation and training of these fine children and also of parenthood training as well. She had her subject well in hand and delivered it in a forceful manner, so much so in fact, that she was given a rising vote of thanks at the conclusion.

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to a pleasant social hour and made still more enjoyable by the appearance of the delicious pumpkin pie and a new drink, Cof-Fig, donated and served by Mrs. T. W. Oglesby, Mrs. Will Glazner and Mrs. Rebecca Oglesby for the benefit of the Missionary society of the Spurgeon Methodist church.

Lincoln

The regular meeting of the Lincoln P.-T. A. was held at the school Thursday of last week. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Sexton.

A very interesting program had been arranged. The children from the elementary grades gave a physical training demonstration under the direction of Mrs. Nellie Irvine. It consisted of games and calisthenics. Those present were well pleased by the work the children did and much credit is due Miss Irvine for her careful supervision.

Mrs. John Clarkson addressed the association on "Physical Training." She told in her gracious way the benefit of physical exercise both at school and in the home. She asked the parents to join in this work and help the children grow up sound in body and mind. A child's mental ability depends upon his physical development, she said.

The new year is opening with a large membership of enthusiastic members and great is the expectation for the new year's work. One of the interesting events planned for Lincoln P.-T. A. is the "Foust Festival" to be given November 20, at Lincoln school. The mothers are asked to co-operate with the ways and means committee and make this a great success. Mrs. Knight, the chairman, will be glad to answer all inquiries.

County Official Wins Hand of Musician In Marriage

Yesterday on Treasure Island at Naples, Joseph Bryan Irvine, assistant county jailor, was himself given a life sentence in Dan Cupid's court when his marriage to Miss Claudine Iva Seaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin H. Seaver of Gilbert avenue, northwest of Santa Ana, was solemnized by the Rev. Edwin J. Inwood, former pastor of Santa Ana First Methodist church.

Only immediate relatives were present at the ceremony, for which the bride was costumed in cut velvet in an ivory tone, trimmed in mink fur and rhinestones. A lovely hat to harmonize was worn. Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party enjoyed supper at the Virginia hotel, Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Irvine leaving later for San Francisco.

For traveling, Mr. Irvine chose a black crepe-back satin embellished with rose and gold, and a smart little velvet cloche. They will motor through the northern part of the state and upon their return southward, will be at home for the present at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Seaver.

The romance of the young people began back in high school days when they were members of the same graduating class from Polytechnic high school. Immediately after graduation, Mr. Irvine enlisted for service in the World war and was sent to France where he served as sergeant of marines. His bride has been one of the county's popular music teachers but has spent much of her time in travels with her parents, through the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Merry Costume Party At Suburban Home

Weird indeed was the gathering of witches, ghosts, fortune tellers and gypsies last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hazen in Tustin where members of the Baptist Young People's society celebrated the Halloween season.

Arriving at the home, the merry-makers were greeted by a genial-faced Jack 'lantern, a siren whistle and a pair of ghosts. Within the house the season was further emphasized by appropriate decorations including four amusing black cats skillfully designed by Mrs. Edna M. Crawford. Numerous large bouquets of brilliant coccobomb, pink chrysanthemums, and also pink roses, the gift of Mrs. Crawford, added cheer to the living rooms.

The early evening was enjoyed around a crackling bonfire in the walnut orchard, where the crowd told ghost stories, and joined in games of dare base, New Orleans and Flying Dutchman. Returning to the house, Miss Mildred Fox, social chairman, introduced a series of lively games. Late in the evening the host and hostess served hot chocolate, wafers and delicious home-made candy.

Those enjoying the evening were Ivo Smith, Vera Coad, Naomi Kellar, Marjorie Kern, Mildred Marchant, Ruth Elliott, Guy Paquette, Kenneth Lee, Oscar Area, Edith Rhinard, Mildred Fox, Laura Joiner, Kemper Taylor, Mrs. J. D. Rhinard, Dr. and Mrs. Otto S. Russell, the Rev. and Mrs. Harry Kern, Mesdames and Messrs. Spencer Elliott, Ray Echols and Mr. and Mrs. Hazen.

Shriners Announce Charity Ball Date

Interest in the selection of the date of Friday, November 20, for the annual Charity ball of the Orange County Shrine club, was by no means confined to the wearers of the red fez, for the ball, noted as the leading event in the year's social whirl, offers quite as much charm and invitation to non-members as it does to Shriners themselves.

Today's announcement of the chosen date, included the information that the ball would be held, according to custom, at St. Ann's Inn whose ball-room offers the most centrally located spot in the county of sufficient size to accommodate the crowd drawn by the annual attraction. The ball is always given upon the eve of the Thanksgiving season and proceeds go to brighten the Christmas holidays in homes of the county's more unfortunate folk.

Autumn Flowers Give Charming Effect to Party Scene

In presenting a bridge luncheon on two successive days this week, Mrs. James N. Harding made her attractive home on Bush street the rendezvous for the social set both Monday and yesterday, when the pleasant events were held.

The hostess maintained a red and gold color scheme, symbolical of the largesse of the harvest season. Chrysanthemums in every variety of form, were used in profusion. Great feathery blossoms adorned the rooms and luncheon tables were centered with the wee button varieties, but all in the two colors. The flowers were all the product of the gardens of Mrs. Harding's mother, Mrs. Alice Patton.

At the initial luncheon Monday, Mrs. Earl Morrow assisted in hostess duties and Mrs. Frank Pinkerton took first prize at bridge with second going to Mrs. George Briggs. At yesterday's function, Mrs. Howard Timmons and Mrs. Ralph Mosher assisted and Mrs. Hubert Dale and Mrs. Ray Chandler carried off honors at cards. Seven tables were required for the bridge players at each event.

Octogenarian Honored By His Nieces

Beautifully decorated with dahlias and chrysanthemums was the home of the Misses Adda and Anna M. Cowan at 214 South Sycamore street where the eighteenth birthday anniversary of their uncle, O. H. Anderson of Los Angeles was delightfully celebrated.

Invited to share the anniversary were two sisters and brothers of the honored guest, the party including Miss Mary Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Collins of Santa Ana, Mrs. Sara G. Anderson of South Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bunker of Monrovia, and a cousin, Mrs. Julia Elder of 710 Hickey street, this city.

At 12:30 o'clock, the guests found their places around a flower-decked table where place of honor was given Mr. Anderson for the enjoyment of the delectable repast served by his nieces, the Misses Cowan. In the afternoon many other nieces and nephews called to pay their respects to the honored guest and to add their congratulations and good wishes to those so freely showered upon him.

The time was happily spent in recalling incidents of days gone by, not only in California but in the old Ohio home, and in reading letters and cards of good wishes from many relatives and friends.

Surrounded by their eleven children, all grown to a splendid manhood and womanhood, and adored by twenty grand-children, ten of whom were present to share a happy day, as was a youthful great-grand-son, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Deaver on Wednesday, October 14, celebrated the happy occasion of their golden wedding at the home of the Harvey Ritners in Tustin.

Just fifty years ago Mr. Deaver, a young Virginian, won the hand of pretty Rachel Harrison, the wedding taking place near Belle Valley, Virginia. Eight years later the young people moved to Missouri and made their final move in 1903 when they came to California and located in Tustin where the golden wedding day was as happily celebrated as was its forerunner in the "Old Dominion."

Mrs. Ritner is one of the five daughters and in honor of the event had her home gay with huge yellow chrysanthemums. Garlands of blue and gold led from the dining room chandelier, draped to resemble a wedding bell, to the walls of the room. The table, centered with golden blossoms, bore the huge white and gold wedding cake which the bride of fifty years ago cut and served with grace and charm. A buffet luncheon was a most enjoyable feature and the happy afternoon which followed was enlivened by many an old-time song and hymn.

Charles Deaver, a son who came from his Minneapolis home to share in the rejoicing, sang several solos and Victor Deaver, whose home is in Tulare, played selections on the harmonica. Amidst her tall sons and daughters, Mrs. Deaver was a gracious and lovely little mother, gowning in blue French satin and wearing a corsage of sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

Those present to celebrate the happy occasion with Mr. and Mrs. Deaver were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Ritner and sons Elmer, Elwood and Horace of Tustin, Mr. and Mrs. W. Heidelberg of Kansas City, Mrs. Letha Cheatham of Phoenix, Charles Deaver of Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Phelps and sons Kenneth and Joseph of Compton with the latter's wife and small son (the great-grand-son of the honorees), Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wearne and daughters Marilyn and Dorothy of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Deaver and daughter Beatrice and son James of Escalon, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Deaver and sons Jack and Teddy of Owensmouth, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Deaver of Tulare, Frank Deaver of Santa Ana, and Elmer Deaver of Tulare.

Santa Anans Share in Honoring Miss Isbell At Pretty Shower

Autumn flowers artistically arranged added greatly to the charm of the L. A. Stevenson home on Palmyra avenue, Orange recently when it offered an extremely attractive setting for a party honoring a Thanksgiving season bride, Miss Audrey Isbell, fiancée of Joseph Peterson of this city.

The Misses Marguerite Peers and Helen Tantlinger assisted by Mrs. Stevenson, were the hostesses and guests were the close friends of Miss Isbell from her home town of Orange and from this city where she is quite as well-known and popular.

Both bride and 500 were on the program for the evening's amusement and Miss Lois Clement was awarded a pretty pencil for proficiency in the latter game while a graceful basket of flowers rewarded Mrs. Edwin Schick, winner at bridge. With the gift award came the surprise feature of the evening, for Miss Isbell was presented her "prize" also—a bewildering variety of lovely gifts for her future home. After their examination, card tables were arranged with dainty linens and centered with crystal candlesticks holding pink tapers for the serving of a two-course supper. With the sweets course an added pleasure was given—the celebration of Miss Isbell's birthday, for a great cake, sparkling with candles, was wheeled in on a tea wagon and offered the bride-elect for cutting and serving with ices.

The whole party was arranged as a surprise to the honoree who thought she was to spend a quiet evening at the Stevenson home and enjoy a game of bridge with her hosts. Instead she was greeted by a friendly group who included in addition to Mrs. Stevenson, Miss Peers and Miss Tantlinger, the Misses Helen Randall, Elizabeth Parslow, Berthens Selway, Elaine Wharton, Jean Ross, Betty Ross, Mignonne Swales, Lois Sweet, Jean Tantlinger, Cynthia Kirvin and Mesdames Virgil McCollum, Warren Fletcher, Carlisle Dennis, Charles Carothers and Karl Baker, Santa Ana; Mesdames Willis Thompson, Edwin Schick, Lloyd Meisinger, Clyde Dennis, Sanford Cole, J. W. Isbell, the Misses Lucila, Dierker, Hilda Wunderlich, Josephine Durgan, Lois Clement, Cleona Strickland, Floy Stevenson, Orange; Miss Cornelia Glover, Miss Helen Smith, Mrs. Harold Muench, Miss Dicie Foglesong and Mrs. James Corbett, Los Angeles.

FARM NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE

NEW OAT SEED IS SPONSORED BY STATE BODY

Pure Seed Association of California Makes Long Series of Tests

BY A. M. STANLEY
Secretary, Orange County Farm Bureau

The broadcasting of information relative to the Kanota oat seed marks the first public work of the Pure Seed Association of California, organized a year ago by the California Farm Bureau Federation. "After months of careful observation of the growing conditions of the seed and study as to its adaptability, the association states that the Kanota oat is a variety agreeable to arid regions and that the seed which they have certified is O. K. in every way. It is stated that this selected oat should replace California Red and Texas Red oats in California as being in every way superior.

Matures Earlier
"The Kanota oat matures from 10 to 14 days earlier than other red oats under similar conditions, produces taller and finer straw and leaves, heavier heads and shows a higher test weight per bushel, are some of the claims made by the association. The heavy kernel makes it desirable for either feed or milling purposes and it is especially recommended for poultry feed. Both the hay and grain is a lighter color than the Texas Red and owing to its earlier maturity this oat usually escapes stem rust.

"The production of Kanota oats in California has been under test for more than five years by demonstrators in many counties in both ends of the state. A series of acre tests at the university farm, Davis, for comparative yields this year showed Kanota 85.2, California Red, 82.6 and Coast Black, 22.6 bushels respectively. The yield has always compared favorably and in dry years, and good crops have been harvested when other varieties have failed.

Growers Sponsor New Seed
"The association introducing this new seed is an organization of growers giving particular care to the production of seed of selected varieties and is not a selling organization. It is promoted by the farm bureau for the purpose of adopting and maintaining standards of excellence for seeds. Officials of the association are required to inspect fields grown for certified seed and, if found eligible, will certify the varietal purity of the seed grown. Each bag of seed produced will bear a tag and test weight per bushel, germination test, purity test, common name of the variety and the name of the grower as well as the certification of the association.

"The co-operation of the regular grain dealers is sought for the distribution of the seed, but the growers will pay the cost of certification, inspection and general advertising. The local dealers will be advised as to the adaptability of the seed and the varieties available."

Dairy Council and Milk Men To Gather Here

A joint two-day session of the California Dairy Council and the Southern California Milk Producers association is slated for October 26 and 27, at the farm advisor's office in Santa Ana. The personnel of the board of the California Dairy Council is representative of the entire state. The council holds quarterly meetings, of which this will be the last for this year. The program will commence about 10 a. m. daily. These meetings will be open to the public.

Florida Behind In Orange Crop

The condition of the state orange crop October 1 was estimated to be 82 per cent of normal, as compared with 82 on the same date last year.

A forecast of production, based on present conditions, indicates a probable crop of about 22,500,000 boxes. The 1924 December estimate of the 1924-1925 orange crop placed the production at about 22,000,000 boxes. A revised estimate later in the year placed the marketable crop at 19,200,000 boxes.

The condition of oranges in Florida October 1 was estimated to be 78 per cent of a normal as compared with 89 last year and 95 in 1923.

Specialist Aids In Determining Crop Expenses

Prof. L. W. Fluharty, specialist in agricultural economics of the University of California, is in the county reviewing with walnut and citrus growers the returns and expenses for crops of the current year. Some 25 growers are keeping accurate account of income and expenditure for the purpose of analyzing their farm business. During the past year Professor Fluharty has met with the growers every two months, helping them on their accounts and presenting the latest information on the trend of the farming business. This course of lectures has been given in co-operation with the agricultural extension service in Orange county. Professor Fluharty addressed the farm center at Yorba Linda last night at the Woman's club house, and will speak again to a group of growers at the First National Bank of Olive, tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Dairy Council Auxiliary Will Gather In S. A.

The second meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the California Dairy Council will be held in the Y. W. C. A. rooms, Fifth and Sycamore streets, October 26 at 2:30 p. m.

This meeting is held in conjunction with the regular quarterly meeting of the directors of the California Dairy Council. An interesting and instructive program has been arranged. Prof. M. E. Jaffa, head of the division of nutrition, state university, Berkeley, will be the principal speaker. A round table discussion will be conducted, followed by music and refreshments. All interested in food problems are cordially invited.

Quality of 'Sweets' Is Reported Good

As the season progresses the sweet potato crop in California shows little change from earlier reports. The forecast is for 1,000,000 bushels from 7400 acres. Quality is very good.

In 1924 the production was 678,000 bushels from 6000 acres and in 1923, 690,000 bushels from 6000 acres. The average production of the last six years was 877,000 bushels, while the average yearly acreage for the past six years was 7300 acres. It is well to note that since August 1 the forecast of the entire sweet potato crop of the United States has declined from 85,340,000 bushels to 74,337,000 bushels on October 1.

SAVE CRANKCASE OIL
Oil from the crankcase of the automobile or the tractor need not be thrown away. It can be used to lubricate almost all farm machinery.

PICK SEED CORN
Seed corn can best be picked by hand. Only sound, well-matured ears should be selected. Pick ears that have husks turning brown and that are on stalks still green.

New Plan Tried By Farm Centers Proves Success

The Placencia-Fullerton farm center is trying a new plan for monthly meetings. The regular monthly meeting is attended only by the board of directors of the center representing the various sections included in the center boundaries. A general meeting of the farmers of the Placencia-Fullerton district is called quarterly. The directors meet monthly for dinner, following which business for the center is transacted. The experiment has thus far proved successful. It has been in operation for six months.

FARM BUREAU REGIONS HOLD SESSION HERE

Endorsing the Swing-Johnson bill, with the All-American Canal attached and requesting that action on the Grand application for water right on Diamond creek, a tributary to the Colorado river, be postponed, were the outstanding actions of the regional farm bureau meeting held at Santa Ana Saturday. It was brought to the attention of the delegates that the All-American canal was essential to the protection of the water conservation program of the Colorado river, and should remain in the bill to make the project complete and workable.

In the Grand application, a hearing had been set to be held in Los Angeles, November 26, a date conflicting with a hearing on practically the same subject held in Washington. People who would be interested in both hearings would be unable to attend one or the other, so a postponement was sought. Diamond Creek is a tributary to the Colorado river below the Boulder dam site and it is feared that any development here would prejudice the government against finally taking over the entire project.

Other matters of particular interest to agriculture were discussed by the delegates, who represented farm bureau regions numbers one and two, consisting of the counties of San Diego, Imperial, Riverside, San Bernardino, Orange, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, Ventura and Inyo. All of the counties except the last two named were represented. Delegates representing the women's department of the farm bureau were seated at this meeting and will be called at all future meetings. The expressed purpose of this meeting was to determine policies which should be pursued by the California Farm Bureau federation during the coming year. This organization will meet next week.

ORIENTAL EGGS FLOODING MARKET

California poultrymen are considerably exercised over the flood of Chinese eggs pouring into the United States.

Imports from China last year, according to figures submitted by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce to the Pacific Rural Press, amounted to the equivalent of 50,000,000 dozen eggs. In round numbers, some 4,000,000 pounds of dried egg yolks representing the yolks of 16,000,000,000 dozen eggs, 3,500,000 pounds of frozen yolks from 6,000,000 dozen eggs, 1,750,000 pounds of dried whole eggs, or 6,000,000 dozen eggs, 5,500,000 pounds or 5,000,000 dozen of frozen whole eggs, 2,750,000 pounds of dried albumen from 10,000,000 dozen eggs, and 1,000,000 pounds of frozen albumen from 1,500,000 dozen eggs, were shipped into this country from China during the last year.

It is, of course, impossible for such a tremendous lot of eggs and egg products, more than 9000 tons to be dumped on our markets without injury to local egg producers. Tariffs on imported egg products are extremely low and apparently do not check importations in the slightest. Whole eggs are taxed 8 cents a dozen, which is said to be approximately fair, but frozen whole eggs are let off with 6 cents a pound and dried eggs with 18 cents a pound. Chinese eggs are used in a large number of food products, such as bakery goods, candy, macaroni, salad dressings, etc.

Pruning School At Yorba Linda Is A. E. S. Plan

At the request of numerous growers in the northern citrus sections of the county, the Agricultural Extension Service is making plans for a pruning school to be held at Yorba Linda. Tentative dates for this event are October 27 and 28. An invitation is extended to all citrus growers who would be interested in following up instructions given by specialists. Actual pruning by the growers themselves, under supervision of specialists, will be featured.

WALNUTS SHOW QUALITY UNDER PAR BY TESTS

Lack of Moisture Around Lower Tree Roots Cause Of Shriveled Meats

By H. E. WAHLBERG
Orange County Farm Advisor

The crack test employed by the walnut association is bringing forcibly to mind the fact that the quality of this year's walnut crop, as a general rule, is below par. When we see the test read 20 per cent shriveled, 12 per cent wormy, etc., we begin to reflect back to figure causes and factors that might account for these conditions.

In the first place, most of us are convinced that one of the outstanding causes for the large percentage of shriveled and blows was the lack of favorable moisture conditions in the lower strata of the tree root systems. As has been pointed out previously during the growing season by the farm advisor's office, the moisture content of the lower soils in the walnut orchard has been below normal, due, no doubt, to the unusual shortage of winter rains during the past few seasons, and, particularly, the preceding winter.

Auger Discloses Lack of Moisture
A ten-foot soil auger has disclosed in many groves the lack of sufficient moisture from the fourth foot down. The tree has been drawing upon the reserve moisture in the strata between the fourth and tenth foot for several years, and where the moisture has not been replaced by natural precipitation or artificial irrigation, the tree roots have been unable to secure the moisture they needed from this region, resulting therefore in a tendency to shriveled meats.

No doubt the two brief hot spells during the growing season had some influence on this condition, but the lack of moisture in the lower strata would aggravate the effect of such hot spells.

Codling Moth Infestation Worse.

The wormy condition of the walnuts this season is self-evident. The codling moth infestation is no doubt becoming more serious each year. The annual infestation may fluctuate in intensity from year to year and may seem to be less one year than another, but, taken over a period of years, there is no question but that the infestation is becoming greater. The only remedy for this is concerted action on the part of the community to carry out effective control measures. No doubt this year's experience will create a demand on the part of the growers to keep a close watch on the spread and control of this potential pest. Already many growers have expressed their desire to have a special field inspector to watch the progress of the codling moth during the season and supervise the actual control operations throughout the district. Such inspection and supervision might be effected in a co-operative arrangement between the horticultural commission and the associations.

The heavy aphid infestation of the past season is also responsible for a share of the deficiency in the quality of the crop. If control measures had been carried out more universally, the deteriorating effect on the growing walnut would have been appreciably less.

The unusual blight attack in certain sections of the county has been responsible for much of the poor quality. Although this factor has no remedy as far as we know now, there are means of improving orchard conditions so as to reduce the effect of the other factors mentioned above.

It is true that control measures for insect pest, and better moisture content will add somewhat to the expense of production but this year's experience proves the great cost of the lack of proper control.

Blight to Reduce Harvest of Nuts

Reports from state walnut growers and other agencies Oct. 1 indicated a lower production of walnuts than previously had been expected.

The forecast of production now places the total crop at about 30,000 tons, which includes walnuts that enter main commercial channels and all other consumption. The lower yields reflect the effect of blight in some areas and also the injury from high temperatures during July.

Seek Temporary Permit for Dam

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 21.—Protest on the federal permit for construction of a power dam at Diamond creek and application for a temporary permit for a dam at Glenn canyon were filed by Arizona officials yesterday in Washington, according to telegraphic advices here.

The proposed dam at Glenn canyon, as proposed by Arizona representatives, would be 1000 feet high with a potential one million horse-power.

It would be located in north-eastern Arizona, near the Utah line.

The rare mangosteen will soon be placed on the American market.

VIVID TALE OF RISE FROM RAIL WATCHMAN TO BANKER RELATED IN DIVORCE SUIT

Contrasted against the dead ashes of a love romance in divorce court yesterday, was romance of another sort—adventures in industry and finance that raised Claude A. Adams from a common laborer to a banker, in two short years.

Adams was granted a decree of divorce from his wife, Marie Adams, of Fullerton, after telling a vivid action-tale of life among the powers of labor and capital, where Adams has wielded a dual leadership.

His story covered the rise of an organizing genius, his fall with the crash of his home, and his struggle to rise again in a new field, finally crowned with success, a struggle aided by the prayers of a little girl for her "daddy" during his times of stress.

Two years ago Adams was a crossing watchman for the Santa Fe railroad, in Fullerton. Today he is vice-president of a Los Angeles bank. His astonishing rise, it appeared, was due to no aid or inspiration of his wife, and its narration in court divided interest only with the wife's own admission that she had once tried to kill her husband.

Adams came into court yesterday as defendant in a divorce suit brought by the wife, who charged him with desertion, non-support and cruelty. He had no attorney, but he matched wits with a member of the legal profession and came off victor. The decree was granted to him, on grounds of desertion.

According to his own story, Adams was once a labor leader, an organizer of recognized talent. He hob-nobbed with the great in the fields of industry and commerce. Many times he represented labor in strike-conferences with capital. During that time, and later in his financial career, he always sought the prayerful aid of his small daughter before entering a "fight."

"She always promised me that, at just the hour I expected the crisis would be on, she would kneel down and say a prayer for my success. I felt that I could not go into these battles without her prayers. They gave me confidence—and they gave me success, too."

Such was Adams' explanation in reply to his wife's charge that he paid attention to other women. Mrs. Adams had introduced a telegram addressed to her husband and signed "Marian." The message was one wishing good luck. "At that time," said Adams, "my daughter was staying with my wife, her stepmother, and my wife would not let her receive mail from me. Unable to communicate with my daughter before entering a certain important conference, where thousands of dollars were at stake, I was uneasy. On my way to the conference I met a young Y. W. C. A. girl. She was a stranger but I asked her if she would do what my daughter had always done for me. She promised she would. During the conference I got this message from her. That's all there was to it."

Mr. and Mrs. Adams were living in San Bernardino when the wife made the attempt upon his life. As director of a newly opened bank there, he had joined other bank officials in an opening reception and was busy receiving guests when his wife suddenly appeared and pressed a pistol against his side. He calmed her and induced her to go outside. Then he left the building by another door. The police placed her under arrest.

Mrs. Adams was questioned by Judge R. Y. Williams regarding the incident, which she admitted. "I thought it would be best for the community if he was put out of the way," she said. "I had another bullet left in the gun and intended to shoot myself with that so that would have been all right," she added.

Adams testified that his wife was eccentric and that they could not get along. Finally they agreed to make a fresh start in new surroundings, in an effort to avert a break. They abandoned their affairs in San Bernardino and moved to Fullerton. Adams, who has but one arm, took a humble position as towerman for the railroad. But their domestic affairs went from bad to worse, and it was finally arranged that Adams should go to Los Angeles. He had been studying to equip himself for a financial position, and he effected a connection with a Los Angeles bank. His rise was rapid. Later, he wrote to his wife that he had prepared a home for her, but she declined to go there, he said. Then came the divorce proceedings.

Attorney George Gobar, of Fullerton, represented Mrs. Adams in court. Adams handled his own defense. The court ordered an equal division of property between the couple, including real estate in San Bernardino and personal property.

You And Friends

Please Phone or Mail Items

Miss Marie M. Murphy, well known young attorney of Boston, Mass., who has been spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Murphy at Santa Ana Gardens, left yesterday to return east. Miss Murphy has made friends during her sojourn here, and promises to return next summer, perhaps to locate.

Miss Rosa Boyd and Dr. J. P. Boyd have been enjoying a brief visit from their old friend, Mrs. Paul Shoup, wife of the president of the Southern Pacific and Pacific Electric railroads, who came to Santa Ana, where she formerly resided for many years prior to her marriage, on Saturday. Mrs. Shoup, with her son, Jack and daughter, Louise, were each accompanied by a friend, returned from a delightful trip to Europe in time for the young people to enter Stanford university. They motored through England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales and Belgium, also touring France. In New York City, Mrs. Shoup visited her eldest son, Carl Shoup, and made the acquaintance of her new grandchild.

Robert J. Speed of the Enterprise Publishing company returned yesterday from San Francisco, where he attended Masonic Grand Lodge as a delegate. Others attending from here were Dr. L. L. Whitson, E. B. Trago, Ward Sutton, Charles McCausland and Dr. C. V. Doty, who returned Saturday. Mr. Speed remained to attend to business matters.

Walter Albany Linsdell of La Habra, statistician for the Southern California Edison company, has been made a knight commander of the Court of Honor from Southern California at the supreme council of the Scottish Rite Free Masonry, which is in session in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yoch, their daughter, Miss Josephine Yoch and Miss Hayes today returned to their home at 111 East Eleventh street, after spending the summer at Laguna Beach.

Miss Lillian Yorba accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Al Boyd of San Juan Capistrano, the Mission town, on a trip to San Diego and Tia Juana last Saturday, taken in their new coach of a popular make. The party returned Sunday evening.

Miss Jeannette Lewis of 819 No. Sycamore street was an outgoing traveler yesterday over the Union Pacific bound for Chicago.

Among today's Union Pacific passengers was F. H. Lacy of 1116 West Second street, whose destination is Denver, Colo.

J. W. Resch and W. G. Wilson, with the Holly Sugar company, left yesterday via the Union Pacific route for Glendive, Mont.

Mrs. Marion Norris of Evanston, Ill., one of the instructors at the religious school of education now being held at the First Methodist church and sent here by the Central Sunday School board of the church in Chicago, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Robinson, 219 East Washington avenue.

J. F. Dunkin, floor manager at the Rankin Dry Goods store, who underwent a serious operation in the Good Samaritan hospital, Los Angeles, last Friday, is reported as improving rapidly.

DE WOLFE HOPPER TAKES SIXTH BRIDE

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—New Yorkers smiled benignly today upon a honeymoon couple who strolled through their midst and rode arm in arm on top of a bus up Riverside drive.

DeWolfe Hopper, actor, has had brought his bride of a day, Mrs. Lillian Glazer, to the big city for their honeymoon. They were married yesterday at Hartford, Conn.

It is DeWolfe's sixth honeymoon. Hopper is in his 67th year, is with striking distance of the matrimonial records established by the late Nat Goodwin and Kid McCoy. Lillian, the blushing bride, is on the sunny side of 30 and was the widow of Dr. Amiel Glazer, a San Francisco dentist. She, like so many of the previous Mrs. Hoppers, is an actress. She is a native of Oakland, Calif.

McKay Renamed As Secretary for Circulation Men

William McKay, circulation manager for the Register, yesterday was re-elected to the position of secretary of the California, Circulation Managers association, at the annual convention of the organization, held in the Ambassador hotel, Los Angeles, Monday and Tuesday.

Harold Searles of the Hollywood Daily Citizen, was chosen president of the circulation managers for the coming year and Fred Anderson, circulation manager of the San Francisco Daily News, was named first vice president. W. J. Harrison, of the Los Angeles Evening Herald, was elected chairman of the board of directors.

The convention this year was said to have been the most successful in the history of the organization, with more than 80 managers from all points in the state attending.

The 1926 convention will be held in San Francisco.

Will Open Bids On Irvine Roads

Bids will be opened by the county supervisors November 10, on the contract for constructing four and a half miles of gravelled highway on the Irvine ranch, it was decided by the board late yesterday. The projected improvement covers portions of Irvine boulevard, Valencia avenue and Culver road. The aggregate cost will be approximately $10,000, it is estimated.

PRINCIPALS OF SCHOOLS FLY MOVIES, ACTS OF VAUDEVILLE

Newspaper Headlines and Stories of Crime Also Come in for Criticism

RESOLUTIONS ARE ADOPTED BY BODY

Educators Express Their Disapproval of Certain Varieties of Literature

Disapproval of obscene literature, questionable movies, suggestive vaudeville acts, improper dancing exhibitions, and sensational newspaper stories, featuring crime details, is contained in resolutions adopted yesterday afternoon by the Santa Ana School Principals' association, at a special meeting held in the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school.

The resolutions follow:

"Whereas, we are firmly convinced of the effect of literature, pictures and dramas upon the imagination; and consequently upon the emotions of the developing child; realizing the truth of the statement that 'the simple emotions of the child become the complex emotions of the adult'; and believing that every precaution should be exercised to insure that, as far as possible, only those qualities desirable for efficient citizenship, be allowed to become a part of the child's life.

"We, the principals of the schools of Santa Ana, most emphatically indorse that resolution adopted by the National Education association, pledging its legislative committee to memorialize congress to pass legislation prohibiting transportation, by any means, in interstate commerce, to all that class of obscene literature, pictures, or tokens, barred from the U. S. mails; and we further resolve that every effort be made to enlist local organizations and individuals interested in the welfare of our youth, to act toward the suppression, not only of such literature, pictures and tokens but also all questionable and suggestive cinema, dramatics, vaudeville, and dances; and newspaper headlines of, and detailed writeups of crime.

"Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be presented to each Parent-Teacher association in the city with a request for co-operation in this matter."

The committee charged with drawing up the resolutions was headed by H. G. Nelson, principal of the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school.

U. S. SENATOR HELD LIKE JOB OF ENGINEERING

Picturing the job of running for U. S. senator as an engineering job, to be approached in a businesslike way, Congressman Walter Lineberger, of Long Beach, yesterday, in Santa Ana, discussed with a Register representative some of the issues of the campaign.

"I am an engineer and a business man," said he, "and I am not using the tactics of a politician. I believe in hard work, and in sizing up a project, then going after the details. That's how I have been conducting my campaign, as an engineer would do it and not as a politician might do it. I have been in 47 counties of this state, and believe that my chances for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator next August are good, and will grow stronger as the campaign ripens."

Major Lineberger has been three times elected congressman. He entered the race for senator last March.

"I have always been in favor of the Boulder dam project," said Lineberger, "and for the all-American canal. I don't have any new announcement to make in that regard. My record at Washington shows where I have been on that subject. In fact, before I thought of running for congress in 1920, at the national convention of the American Legion I was on the committee that reported out a favorable resolution indorsing this great project."

Lineberger said that, if he is elected to the senate, he proposes to do his utmost to work in complete harmony with the congress-

Does Away with Competition in Dress and Sets Example for Pupils

Teachers in the Chicago city schools have nothing on the fair instructors of the Roosevelt school in Santa Ana.

Chicago school ma'ams have adopted the smock as regular attire during school hours, believing that it does away with dress competition among the instructors and also has a tendency to set an example among the pupils.

The teachers in Roosevelt school in Santa Ana adopted this mode of dress several weeks ago and Miss Verna E. Wells, principal, is so well pleased with the idea that she believes it would be worthy of adoption by all teachers in the city.

The smocks are identical with those worn by artists, differing only in the various shades of hues. They are pleasing to the eye and keep the street dresses of the teachers from becoming soiled.

Each year a large number of under-nourished children are cared for throughout the summer months in the Trabuco preventorium and it is to further this work as much as possible that the concert is being given. Many women in the county work hard each year to see that the young children are helped to better health through the summer camp and each year women give their own time and money to the camp and care for the children.

The program for the concert has been completed and is as follows:

"Suleika," Mendelssohn; "Ich Liebe Dich," Beethoven; "Im Haine," Schubert, Miss Elizabeth Siegel.

"Scherzo and March," Liszt, Kurt Mueller.

"Thou Art Like a Flower," Schoenfeldt; "O Moon Upon the Water," Cadman; "Consecration," Manney, Frederick Huttman.

"Mazurka," harp solo, Schuecker, Miss Julie Kellar.

"Vissi d'Arte, Vissi d'Amore," from "Tosca," Puccini, Miss Elizabeth Siegel.

"Berceuse," Chopin; "Etude," Rubinstein, Kurt Mueller.

Liebeslied, "Die Walkure," Wagner, Frederick Huttman.

"At Dawning," Cadman, arranged for harp by Miss Julie Kellar. Tickets have been placed on sale in a number of Santa Ana and Anaheim drug stores.

Can't Tell Who Yells

According to Ray Dawson, captain of the team, it makes no difference whether the girls do the yelling or not, "we cannot tell who is yelling or what they are yelling. Just as long as they are there and we know that they are for us we try to do our best." This is encouraging for it will help the boys

BOYS PROMISE TO MAKE MORE NOISE AT GAME

Yell Leaders to Organize Booster Club and Instill School Spirit in Youths

Why don't Santa Ana boys make as much noise at football games as the girls do?

It is a question that football fans in Santa Ana have never been able to solve. At last, however, the time is fast approaching when the question will no longer be asked.

Why? Because the boys have risen up in wrath and have decided to show the public that the male portion of Santa Ana high school is not lacking in school spirit as has long been supposed.

There is doubt as to what has caused this popular upheaval of school spirit. Some lay it to the dignity brought about by the wide trousers, if it is possible to bring about dignity through them. Others lay it to the brilliant neckties and the blazers.

The true answer to the question is that Judson Riley, present yell leader at Santa Ana high school decided to instill school spirit into the boys by organizing a Booster club.

Yells in Soprano Key

Last Friday at the game between Long Beach and Santa Ana it was noticed that the yells for the most part were pitched in a high soprano key. An interested spectator inquired into this and thus brought up the ever interesting question once again.

Upon inquiring it was found that in the past the majority of the boys have hated to go to affairs in which the girls take care of the gridding. By a mighty effort the boys have decided to get beyond any petty prejudice on their part and with the aid of Judson to start the Booster club, which will mean a lot to the townspeople who have always wanted to go to a game in which there would be a few boys who would be willing to yell.

Clarence Sprague and Judson Riley, both yell leaders, say that the boys are too lady-like to yell. Is this to what wide trousers and garterless socks have brought the coming generation of males?

Girls Have Club

Perhaps the knowledge that the girls already have a Booster club has something to do with the fact that the boys are getting one. Clarence Sprague says that at the game with Orange one would think that there was a "young ladies' seminary" rooting for Santa Ana. According to Sprague, girls voices carry further than boys any time so if a few boys have the courage to yell no one would ever know it. He asks that the townspeople be not too hard on the boys as they are expected to improve materially in the near future—even in the game next Saturday with Whittier, improvement is looked for.

Another thing that is very noticeable, according to the yell leaders, is the wonderful amount of enthusiasm in the school where the football team is concerned. Boys simply can't be enthused over a losing team and Santa Ana certainly hasn't a losing team this year, they say.

Referring to the oft-heard declaration that schools today are not teaching the fundamentals, as they were taught in the early history of education, and within the experience of the man of 40 years of age today, Cranston cited the method of teaching spelling. Pointing out that in former days it was customary to give pupils a spelling lesson daily of 25 or 30 words, many of them with four and five syllables, Cranston said that today the spelling lists had been cut down to words that would develop a writing and talking vocabulary of words that are in every day use.

"Words given in spelling lessons in by-gone days, and that seldom

"I have seen in the Santa Ana schools marked betterment in the physical conditions of pupils by reason of the athletic program," he said. He stressed the value of sports in development of a good sporting spirit by pupils.

"Statistics," said Principal Hammond, "show that a large share of the education given through the high schools of the nation is meant to prepare students for college, yet only a small percentage of high school students ever go on to college. High school education, then, should be made to conform to the needs of this vast majority."

Apprenticeship Past

"In these days when apprenticeship in trades has become almost a memory, it devolves upon the schools, to a certain extent, to fill in the breach. Employers no longer have time to give attention to the training of boys in trades. They are willing to pay high wages for expert help, and they do not want help that is inexperienced. Where then are the trades to get their recruits?"

"Do you know that it is almost impossible for a youth in Santa Ana who wants to learn to become an expert plasterer to learn that trade?"

"We have established in the high school a printing department in which each year 25 boys are to be given the rudiments of the printing trade. Similar departments may be established for other trades."

"Cost money? Yes, education costs money, and good education costs more money than a makeshift system, but the high school of today ought to fill the needs of the great majority of its students rather than merely meet the demands of the few."

Policies having to do with the reduction of illiteracy throughout the world were adopted at the international convention attended by Miss Lasby. Miss Lasby was herself a member of one of the most important committees of the great conference. Among matters discussed by this committee, and put into definite form, was a decision to encourage the study of biography.

Select Americans

The four members of the committee outside the United States selected, as the three greatest Americans for this study, Lincoln, Franklin and Woodrow Wilson. The commissioner of education of Poland, a member of the committee, said that reading the life of Lincoln had had a tremendous effect upon his own life.

The effect of the conference in its disposition toward international peace was depicted by Miss Lasby. Those attending the conference declared themselves as hoping to hold the educators of the world together in a conviction that permanent peace is desirable and attainable.

Report on Prado Dam Project Did Not Cost $50,000

(By A. V. NAPIER)

In the story of the Prado dam project, which appeared in Monday's Register, it was stated that the survey and report of J. B. Lippincott had cost the state and the counties of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange the sum of $50,000, half of which was paid by state funds and the other half divided between the three counties.

Lippincott was employed by the state and the three counties mentioned to make a general survey of the whole Santa Ana river watershed, and for this work the state and three counties paid the $50,000. Much of the data compiled in this general survey is used in the report on the Prado dam project, but the specific analysis of the possibilities pertaining to the dam project was made exclusively for Orange county and the county of Orange is to pay Lippincott $3,650 for this special service.

The statement of this item in Monday's article would be somewhat misleading. The counties of San Bernardino and Riverside have no financial interest in the Prado dam project, although the proposed dam site is in Riverside county. The report on the Prado dam project alone did not cost $50,000, but $3650, as above stated.

EDUCATION HEADS ADDRESS CIVIC CLUBS ON IDEALS OF SANTA ANA PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Superintendent J. A. Cranston Sees Marked Improvement in Pupils

Introduction of Vocational Subjects Is Explained By D. K. Hammond

One of the ideals of the Santa Ana schools is to so develop the child mentally, physically and morally that he will do his work better than his father is doing or ever has done it. J. A. Cranston, superintendent of public schools yesterday told members of the Exchange club during a discussion of the Santa Ana schools and educational policies generally.

The superintendent said that he was starting on his twentieth year as superintendent here, that he had seen many changes in school ideals, and that he had seen during his time here verification of his statement about the ideals of the local schools.

STUDENTS WHO ARE NEEDY TO RECEIVE LOANS FROM P.-T. A.

Scholarship Fund Is Available Without Interest to Those Who Are Worthy

ONLY 10 CAN GET HELP DURING YEAR

General Ability and Genuine Necessity for Aid Are to Be Considered

Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, president of the fourth (Orange county) district of California Congress of Parents and Teachers, announced today that the state organization has this year established a scholarship loan fund. The amount at this time is $1500. It is anticipated, however, Mrs. Snow explained, that there will be an annual increase in the amount available for loans.

The state organization plans to aid only those students who are dependent entirely or in part on their own efforts. Mrs. Snow declared. The money will be loaned, without interest, with the understanding that, when the beneficiary is earning, he will repay a third of the loan the first year.

Applications will be received from the students at universities, colleges, other higher institutions, and the secondary schools. Upon recommendation from the faculty, the application will be submitted to the scholarship committee of the state organization.

It was pointed out by Mrs. Snow that the committee passing upon applications will not necessarily require superior academic scholarship, but will admit as applicants those who show general ability and a genuine need for help. There will be no discrimination on account of age, sex, race or creed.

Principals and superintendents who know of worthy cases are invited to have students apply. In fact, to Mrs. Stephen Gould, Coalinga, or to Mrs. P. J. Kramer, 5315 Chaboly Terrace, Oakland. This year only 10, at most, can be assisted, but it is desired to make use of the fund at once, Mrs. Snow declared.

CALL FOR BIDS ON NEW SCHOOL SOON

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 17. A call for bids on the new $500,000 high school plant, which is to be built here during the winter, is expected to be issued by the local school board within the next two weeks, according to information secured today from a reliable source.

During the past few weeks, frequent meetings of the school board have been held to lay plans for the new school.

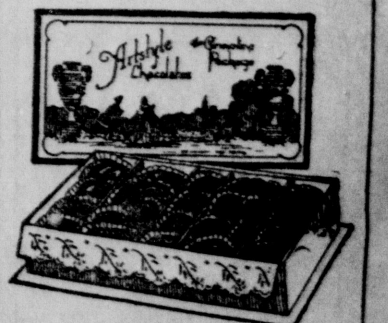

Ground has been prepared for the new building and an old rig which was situated on ground purchased by the school board has been removed. The school board is being assisted in the planning of the new edifice by Thomas Berry, local engineer.

It is expected that the structure will be ready for the opening of school term next year. More than two months will elapse before actual construction work can begin, it is said.

SAYS FLORIDA BALLOON DUE FOR PUNCTURE

The Florida boom balloon is due for a puncture soon and when this occurs there are going to be hard falls for those who are now traveling on air there, in their mad whirl in making and spending money, in the opinion of Dr. B. M. Fortier, who returned Monday night from a visit to Washington, D. C., and a stay of several weeks at the Medical Field Service school, maintained by Uncle Sam in Carlisle, Pa.

Dr. Fortier based his declaration on statements by friends and by men he met during his absence from Santa Ana.

Dr. Fortier went east for the purpose of taking the special medical training offered by the school while conducting an officers' training camp for men of the reserve officers corps. Incidentally, Dr. Fortier returned with a highly prized gold medal, given him for having the highest grade of any of the medical men taking the course.

The local man holds the rank of lieutenant-colonel in the reserve. The physician was accompanied by his wife and daughter, who remained in Washington, D. C., for a visit with Mrs. Fortier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Henckles. Mrs. Fortier and daughter will return here later.

"People in the east continue to talk California and everyone has a desire to take up a permanent residence here at some time," Dr. Fortier said. "It is true that hundreds of persons are being attracted to Florida by the wild boom in progress there, but the opinion prevails that the inflation of property prices and the wild orgy of making and spending money cannot continue long. It will not be long before those who are now rushing to Florida will be turning to California, because they recognize the stability of this state, particularly Southern California."

KERNELS

BY THE COLONEL

The days of the roosters are numbered in Santa Ana. Chickens may come and chickens may go, but the rooster must go forever, according to a verdict reached by the city council Monday night.

It was suggested that the city ordinance which now reads that poultry farms inside the city limits must be erected 25 feet from the adjoining property, be revised, placing farms much farther away, and limiting the number of chickens in each yard.

The new ordinance in the eyes of many will bring Santa Ana out of the "hick" class, if people can forget the police station entrance is up an alley at night.

Crowing of roosters was bothersome to a man who appeared before the city council Monday night. He said that his next door neighbor had about 200 chicks and that early in the morning the roosters hampered his sleep. He said that when the chicks were fed early each morning, they raised a cloud of dust so thick he could not see his hand in front of him.

The citizen also stated that the neighbor had a number of turkeys and rabbits, but rabbit crowing was not in the list of complaints. Just how the rabbits annoyed him was not recorded.

McCurdy, health officer, suggested that the city council pass an ordinance making it against the law for roosters to live in Santa Ana after they became of crowing age, but the city dads, at one time unable to determine when a pup became a dog, passed up the idea quickly. They did not want the responsibility of determining the time when a rooster was old enough to have a "sayso" in this world.

But the big point is that the city council has agreed to get rid of poultry farms too close to residences in Santa Ana. It's a bigger thing than it looks from the surface. McCurdy stated that there were a number of farms in the city now, and that he was expecting trouble on West First, Third and Fifth streets.

The place for chickens (the feathered kind) is in the country, not in the city, and if Santa Ana is a city, then bye-bye with the poultry. So some say.

The city council did something else Monday night that should have been done before. It ordered all wooden signs erected on top of buildings taken down. There is good and sufficient reason for this. Consider the fire hazard, for instance.

CAN YOU IMAGINE
East Fourth street without an electric sign hanging in the center of the street?

"Dear Colonel:—Please take down the score board the Register used to show returns of the world series. Every time I pass there a chilly feeling runs up and down my back. A WASHINGTONIAN."

Part of a sentence seen in a Los Angeles morning paper on the Stanford-U. S. C. game last Saturday—"To the surprise of the Stanford roosters," etc.

There were no roosters at the game, but nevertheless the Red boys were a little cocky after the game.

"Dear Colonel:—Please find enclosed a two cent stamp. I know that parks and playgrounds with new lights for the city can't be bought for 27½ cents so I am adding my donation. Why is it that Mayor Tubbs don't put a few lights down on South Broadway where I live? It's so dark some nights getting home I can't tell my own house from the next one—even with moonshine. Last night I was over at the Y. M. C. A. and mother heard me getting in at 2:30. If I had had lights I would have made it sooner.—W. B."

NUT-Y-GRAMS

Well, what have you ever done for the Junior Chamber of Commerce?—Sunny Sundquist.

Stresses Need of Hawaiian Defense

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Importance of Hawaii to defense of the United States and need of development of the Pearl Harbor naval base there was stressed by Assistant Secretary of the Navy T. Douglas Robinson, as he returned here from Honolulu. Robinson said the first thing he would recommend upon return to Washington will be the filling of the oil tanks at Pearl Harbor.

Women's Handicap

is greatly curbed this new way of solving
this oldest hygienic problem

THERE is a new way in woman's hygiene that ends the insecurity of old-time "sanitary pads" and their unhappy days.

8 in 10 better class women now use "KOTEX."

5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Deodorizes, thus ending ALL danger of offending.

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Costs only a few cents. Proves old ways a folly. Twelve in a package. In fairness to yourself, try it.

KOTEX

No laundry—discard like tissue

BEARS STILL BEST BET FOR COAST TITLE

"Pop 'Em" Paul Berlenbach, the gift of Astoria, Long Island, to the realm of boxing, is a master of torment.

The light-heavyweight champion who is allowing himself envious glances at the heavyweight crown, amply demonstrated his prowess in this respect in his recent bout with King Solomon, the Panama heavy, who lost on a technical knockout in the ninth round when the referee mercifully intervened to save him from depositing his 191 pounds on the canvas.

Berlenbach's favorite tactics are to work his man into a corner and tear him with terrific blows to the body and head. If he can produce, with his slumber-inviting blows, a dazed condition in the man who is facing him, Paul, the Muler, seldom loses the advantage. When Solomon outweighing him 19 pounds, first began to falter, Berlenbach was on him constantly, raining constant smashes on his body and chin.

But whether Berlenbach has any right to entertain dreams of mastery in the heavy division is open to considerable speculation. The very fact that he could not put Solomon, who was tottering fearfully, to a horizontal position, may indicate that the Astoria slugger lacks sufficient steam behind his punches to entitle him, to high rating among the heavyweights.

Berlenbach's forthcoming fight with Jack Delaney probably interests him more than any other battle in which he could be matched. Once in the long ago the Bridgeport boy laid Paul like a carpet. That is the mighty blot on the Astorian's ring career and he is anxious to redeem himself.

Incidentally, the bout certainly will give Berlenbach the right to the light heavyweight championship a right that has been seriously challenged among some fistie fans.

S. A., SAN DIEGO AND SOUTH PASADENA NOW LEADING COAST LEAGUE GRID RACE

Saturday's Games
Santa Ana at Whittier.
Alhambra at Long Beach.
Glendale at San Diego.
Pasadena at South Pasadena.

While almost anything may happen during a season of seven hard games, early reports from around the Coast Preparatory league circuit indicate that this year's championship rests between San Diego, South Pasadena and Santa Ana high schools.

San Diego, due to its impressive win over Manual Arts in a practice game two weeks ago and its 45 to 0 victory over Alhambra in its first league skirmish last Friday, appears to have the bulge on the other schools. The Southerners have 10 members of last year's championship eleven on hand so local fans realize the tough sledding that confronts Coach Charlie Winterburn and his Santa Ana gridders.

Glendale, Southern California champions last year, were knocked off last Friday by South Pasadena which thus hopped into a contending position for titular honors. Santa Ana is booked to meet South Pasadena at Poly field a week from Saturday and if both teams keep their slates clean this week a capacity crowd should turn out to watch the undefeated eleven tie up.

Whittier and Pasadena battled to a scoreless tie Saturday. Local scouts report that Whittier had an edge in the affair so the Polyites can't afford to let down this week if they would go against South Pasadena still an undefeated crew.

Winterburn put his squad through a fairly easy workout yesterday but he will be down this afternoon and for the rest of this week. Most of the squad is in fairly good condition following its grueling contest against Long Beach and there is probability that Winterburn will start the same eleven men who opened against the Jackrabbits.

After the Whittier joust, the locals must meet, in rapid weekly order, South Pasadena, Glendale, Pasadena, Alhambra and San Diego. There is to be no rest for the weary between now and November 28 out at Poly field.

SCENES FROM CARDINAL, BEAR TRIUMPHS

Sixty-five thousand people saw St. Mary's College hold the powerful University of California eleven to a 6 to 0 score in the Berkeley stadium. Earl Jabs of Santa Ana, California fullback, is shown on the right making one of his spectacular runs. After eluding two of the Saints, Jabs made a 20 yard gain before being downed by the tackle on the extreme right.

One of the reasons why "Pop" Warner's Stanford gridders took the University of Southern California eleven into camp at Los Angeles. Mike Murphy, Stanford halfback (in white jersey), is just starting his 55-yard run that resulted in a touchdown. The final score was 13 to 9.

ERIS JAMISON LEADS HARBOR LOOP HITTERS

Eris Jamison, Laguna Beach first baseman, is showing the way to all the sluggers in the Orange County Harbor league, according to averages compiled for the first two games. Jamison smote the onion for six safeties out of his first eight jaunts to the plate for a mean average of .750.

McLeod, Van Dien-Young outfielder, and Millard Foster, Tustin manager, have perfect averages but they have participated in only one contest so Jamison is the real leader.

Frank La Plante of the Shields Paint company team follows Jamison with a .571 mark. Randolph Bell, also of the Painters, has a .500 average as has F. Penhall of Westminster.

Valente, Laguna Beach, is the leading gun-getter. He has circled the paths six times in the two contests.

The Shields team is ahead in club batting averages with a mark of .288. Laguna Beach is second with .286. Westminster third with .265 and Tustin with .227.

EASTERN COLLEGES PLAN GRID LEAGUE

Dartmouth, Penn May Join 'Big Three' Conference At Close of '25 Season

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Organization of several of the big eastern colleges into a football conference is to be attempted at the close of the current season. The suggestion already has been made informally by Harvard officials who have been sounding out the athletic bodies of several large universities and it is understood that the plan has been looked on with favor.

Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth and Pennsylvania, it is understood, have been proposed for charter members, with the idea that the conference could be increased later to eight members if the plan worked satisfactorily.

The suggestion, coming from Harvard was somewhat of a surprise, as such movements in the past have found little favor at Cambridge, where the athletic officials have always preferred to remain aloof and conduct their own affairs independently.

Some prominent eastern officials believe that an organization such as

STANFORD, TROJAN FROSH CLASH SAT.

Yearling Contest to Raise Curtain for Cards' Tilt With O. A. C. Varsity

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 21.—Stanford Freshmen vs. O. A. C. Freshmen, 1 p. m.

This is the gridiron program which will be presented in the Stanford Stadium next Saturday afternoon. And what a dish that will be for the football fans. The Trojan yearlings, smarting under the licking handed their varsity by the Cardinals last Saturday will be out for blood. And the Southerners always have a strong freshman team. O. A. C. comes south, reputed to be the heaviest aggregation in the conference and one of the strongest.

After its surprising victory over the University of Southern California, the Stanford varsity will be the center of attraction in the football world for the next few weeks. That unexpected triumph may prove to be just what Warner's inexperienced men need to imbue them with confidence. From now until November 14, the Cards will be called upon to repel the attacks of three northern members of the Pacific Coast Conference.

The Oregon Aggies will be the first of the northern invaders. October 31, the Lemon Yellow eleven from the University of Oregon comes south and November 7, Stanford goes north to fight the University of Washington.

BERKELEY—Coach Andy Smith, trainers and 25 football athletes of the University of California will leave tonight for Portland in preparation for the grid contest there Saturday against the University of Oregon in the first conference game of the season for the Bears.

EVENING SALUTATION

The daily life of every one of us teems with occasions which will try the temper of our courage as searching, though not as terribly, as battlefield, or fire, or wreck; for we are born into a state of war, with falsehood, and disease, and wrong, and misery, in a thousand forms, lying all around us, and the voice within calling us to take our stand as men, in the eternal battle against these.—Thomas Hughes.

RIVER WATER FILED UPON

With the application of the Water Conservation association for the appropriation of 250,000 acre feet of water from the Santa Ana river and its tributaries, the project for complete control of the waste waters of the river may be regarded as having reached another milestone in its history. Like many another big, important matter in which the public is vitally interested, it took a long time to get the program under way. It took years for the three counties, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino, to arrange suitable legislation under which the three counties could act jointly. It took statewide water shortages to bring us all to a realization that unless we made full use of the Santa Ana river, we would lose it. In these days, nobody can sit idly by and let water go to waste while there are cities nearby looking far and near for water with which to replenish their water resources.

The Water Conservation association, as representing the three counties, is entitled to all of the surplus water of the Santa Ana river, and now that it has filed upon this surplus, it will have to proceed to a complete utilization of the waters. Filing of the petition, and granting of the petition by the state, is not a perpetual guarantee of ownership, for ownership is not established until utilization is established. The situation has developed to a point where the three counties ought to and must begin to spend a great deal more money in cornering the river's flow than they have been in the habit of spending.

JURORS MUSTN'T READ

Whenever there is a jury trial in the superior court of Orange county involving any case in which there are incidents that were reported extensively in the newspapers, every juror is questioned closely as to whether he has read the newspaper reports. If, perchance he has and if he is intelligent enough to form an opinion by reason of having read something concerning the incidents, he won't do as a juror.

If it is desirable that a juror be unable to read, if it is desirable, if he does read, that he shall forget all he has read or that he shall not think a thought concerning what he reads, we should by all means corral our talesmen as soon as they are selected, and keep them prisoners during the six months they are on the panel. In that way we could keep newspapers away from them; possibly, too, we could give them some kind of a lotion that would put them in a stupor so that they would forget whatever they have read and so that their brains would not work until they reached the courtroom. Equally desirable for jury service with the man who does not read newspapers is the man who remembers nothing. The man who reads and forgets makes an eligible juror; there seems to be nothing to the fact that a man who forgets what he reads is likely to forget from one day to the next what he hears a witness say.

AID DIGESTION

The first point to remember regarding the use of fruit is that in many cases the edible stage does not correspond to the harvest time, particularly when we remember that in order to stand shipment for long distances fruit is harvested earlier than should be done. In the case of many fruits it is necessary for a considerable period of time to elapse after these fruits are harvested before they can be properly eaten.

There are a number of highly important changes that occur in fruit during the ripening process. These changes materially affect the fruit as an article of diet. When unripe fruit is placed in storage, a gradual increase in the amount of sugar and a corresponding decrease in the amount of starch and acid. Other changes which take place are responsible for the particular flavor or aroma characteristic of many species.

Some kinds of apples, for instance, may be eaten as soon as they are picked. Many other kinds, commonly known as winter varieties, require a period of storage before they can be used advantageously. Some apples, particularly that variety known as Baldwins, usually picked in October, are much better eaten in December. These changes in ripening fruit are highly important.

The loss of acidity, the decrease in starch, the increase in the amount of sugar produces the mellowness of ripe apples and renders them edible.

For fruit, you should know, may be properly eaten only when it is thoroughly ripe. If partially decayed fruit is eaten you are taking into the body decidedly unwholesome material containing organisms which may cause trouble.

Stewed, baked or raw apples are excellent articles of food, and in addition they are available in the market practically the year around.

A green apple contains about one-half the sugar that is found in a ripe apple. You should exercise care in purchasing good apples.

Pears form an excellent article of diet, especially for many people who suffer from intestinal disorders and who are unable to indulge their appetites for sour fruits.

Plums and prunes are also wholesome fruits. Prunes, particularly since they contain a large amount of phosphorus and potash, may hold a place of honor on the breakfast menu. Dried prunes should be thoroughly washed and properly cooked.

As regards the cantaloupe, which is high in popular favor and enjoys wide use, you should know that cantaloupes contain little of food value, but they are recommended as food particularly for persons who are inclined to overeat.

Grapes are among the most refreshing of fruits. They are rich in phosphorus, and easily digested. Like the citrus fruits, grapes are mildly laxative.

Apricots, although high in acidity, are relatively rich in food value. A pound of apricots possesses approximately 50 per cent more value than does a pound of peaches.

Raisins, that is dried grapes, are not as digestible as other kinds of dried fruits and they may at times cause intestinal trouble. For many people it is advisable to avoid the seeds. A thorough washing improves most raisins.

Bananas are much more nutritious than are cantaloupes, grapefruit, lemons, oranges or peaches, but be sure the bananas you eat are ripe but not decaying.

Lemons are higher in food value than pears. They contain much acid and together with limes form a valuable adjunct to the diet. They are useful as preventatives of scurvy. Lemon juice may be advantageously used in the place of vinegar and condiments.

Selling and Producing

Pomona Bulletin

The selling of commodities is one of the most important functions of the economic system. But at the present time the selling functions are a little too popular. The great majority of young men with a fair education who enter the business world are trying to get into some organization that is selling something. The retail dealers in most cities would say that there are many more people trying to sell things than can be supported.

The average young man seems to find selling something more hopeful than producing something. He would rather be a clerk in some store than be producing wheat or corn on a farm, or helping in a factory to turn out steel, shoes or clothing.

If there are more sellers than producers, the business of the community is not organized efficiently. There is much complaint of the high cost of distributing commodities. One reason for that difficulty is that there are too many sellers and not enough producers. Where there are too many sellers, that function will be needlessly costly, because many of these sellers do not get enough volume of business so they can do it efficiently.

Young men should not look with disfavor on the producing trades. They should not be afraid to put on a working apron and go into some factory and learn how that article is produced.

The man who begins in a factory by working at a bench, who learns how a good article is produced and who gets the point of view of the employees in that factory, ought to have a considerable advantage over the one who starts in the office and learns simply how to sell the stuff or do the clerical work.

Muscle Work vs. Brain

San Francisco Chronicle

Two generations of small boys who envied Sandow the Strong Man in his prime now are old enough to philosophize on the relative merits of mental and physical strength.

Sandow was a weakly lad, but was determined to become strong. He started a rigorous course of training and development that gave him prodigious muscular development. What a man may accomplish for his muscles it is reasonable to suppose he might do for his brain by systematic training and discipline. So the time came when Sandow could pull teams of horses off their feet and perform other feats of strength that seemed incredible. This vast power remained in his muscles long after his heart could no longer sustain the strain of such efforts. So when Sandow lifted an automobile out of a ditch—an incredible effort in his palmy days—the heart rebelled. Now Sandow the Strong Man is dead, slain by his muscles at an age when men can use trained brains without fear of ill effects.

The reason is that the brain does not tax the rest of the body. Men normally grow wiser as they grow older, and their mental faculties, grown more precise with training, can be exercised without taking physical toll. When the mental faculties fail it is due to some physical weakness that reacts upon the brain.

The man who has given all his efforts to developing prodigious physical strength must stop using it just about the time that he should have learned how best to use it. Had Sandow the Strong Man been weaker he might have lived longer.

A Good Job as Far as It Goes

Keep at It For Friendship

Fresno Republican

It is all very well for "Irreconcilables" to say that the United States can get along without the co-operation of other countries. But such isolation is never possible. And attempts at isolation are not long enduring.

We may have to pay too much at times, for friendship. But there should never be any cessation to trying.

We can bargain, but we should never refuse. We should not even refuse to attempt to deal with Russia, difficult as any basis of co-operation with that country is.

An instance just now of the impossibility of conducting government affairs without international co-operation.

A crook, that should be brought to book on charges in the United States, has taken refuge in Germany. We have no extradition treaty with Germany.

The United States is now endeavoring to reach some diplomatic agreement by which this particular crook can be handed over to American authorities. But the man cannot, in accordance with German law, be given to the United States. Why? Because he has committed no crime against the German people or government, and there is no warrant whatever for holding him for American law.

American law can operate over into Germany only with the co-operation of German law. And German law does not know American law.

Perhaps this is a small matter. Perhaps we could afford to let a swarm of American murderers and forgers and confidence men and offenders generally take refuge in Germany rather than to agree to unreasonable conditions for a treaty of extradition.

But we should never assume that this nation can get along without "trying" at least, to get along with other nations.

Worth While Verse

A BACK-YARD TREE

Blest be the hands of him who set you here
In this back yard where crowds the grimy town;
Thanks to the ones who might have cut you down,
But let you grow in beauty year by year.
Your spreading branches wave and whisper near
A window where a woman, day by day,
Sits sewing, sewing her lone life away.
Your green to tired eyes is rest and cheer;
New courage and new strength she often knows,
Seeing your rain-washed leaves. From you the birds
Sing hope at morn; at night you breathe repose,
Croon to her weary heart God's loving words.
No one is desolate who joys to see
Faith's star in heaven and on earth a tree.

Secret Releases

By State Senator Chester M. Kline in San Jacinto Register.

Stung into action by the criticism of officials and tax payers, the head of the State Prison Board has finally announced that there will be no more secret releases of convicts from the State penitentiaries. He also says that in the future district attorneys who prosecuted and judges who tried the prisoners will be given at least a month's notice. That's welcome news and that is just what the people of the State of California wanted to hear and while it is the best that can be done at the present time the writer will not be satisfied until the possibility of secret releases are made legally impossible and that can be done by amending the laws as was done at the last session of the Legislature but which the Chief Executive refused to sign. When the amendment goes through and becomes a law, then and then only can the public be absolutely assured of the abolition of these notorious secret releases.

After this becomes a law, the next step will be to put a stop to the abuses of the intermediate sentence law. For the last 10 years trials are held in our county courts at tremendous expense and then under the indeterminate sentence convicted men and women are sent to the penitentiaries under an indefinite sentence. After the convict serves a minimum time he or she is called before the same board of "secret releases" and the exact sentence is fixed by this board. The members of the board are business men serving without pay and who must devote their time to their own affairs, hence they devote week-ends to this important function, one week having 22 indeterminate sentences to fix and 32 pardons and paroles of which three were life terms. The combined time that the courts took to try these cases must have been several years, yet this "super-board" decided these cases in two or three days. It can't be done and it shouldn't be done and it won't be done when the people of the State know of it.

The head of the board admitted that only 12 per cent of the evidence was read in deciding these cases. How long would any judge or jury last who would consent to hear only 12 per cent of the evidence? Which part of the evidence is considered? Judging by the releases, it must be the evidence favorable to the prisoners.

The board can't handle all these cases that come before it and do justice to everyone. There must be some correction or the abolition of the indeterminate sentence will result. If the present system of indeterminate sentences is to continue the board should be composed of judges or men trained to do this work and they should be given adequate salaries to devote their whole time or all the time necessary to this highly important work.

We know of one case in which a young man was called before the board for the definite fixing of his sentence. The board had been working long and evidently the work was arduous for the young man was called from his cell at 1 o'clock Sunday morning. He was given 5 minutes to tell his side and then dismissed. He received five years. Five minutes to fix five years.

When the famous Alford case was exposed, and the San Bernardino county grand jury summoned the prison board to come before it, President Van Smith refused, saying the board was amenable to no one save the Governor. Later on due to popular indignation he did appear before the grand jury. Later on when the outcry arose against secret releases, he again took an attitude of superiority, but once again he has decided to heed popular demand. And the same thing will happen in the indeterminate sentence for the board can at least hear all the evidence in each case.

NO. 3—JACK O' LANTERN'S PARTY

"We'll have to have a band," said the Scare Crow. "We'll have to have a band if the Jack O' Lantern is going to give a party."

"That's right," agreed Mister Corn Dodger. "We certainly should have a band. But there is no band in High Jinks Land."

"I've got three fiddlers," said Old King Cole. "My three fiddlers will go."

"And I have a fiddle, too," said the Hi Diddle Diddle Cat. "And I have a horn!" said Little Boy Blue.

"And we have a drum!" said the Three-Men-in-a-Tub. "And I have my pipe," said the Pied Piper.

"Fine! Fine!" cried all the people in High Jinks Land. So Nancy and Nick said "Fine! Fine!" too, as it seemed to be the proper thing to do.

Well! They soon got a band together, and the band went down the street to Jack O' Lantern's house, playing a merry tune.

It was quite a gay party. There was the Scare Crow and Mister Corn Dodger and the Old Apple Woman, and the Pieman, and the Muffin Man, and Mrs. Witch and the Sweep and everybody!

And before very long they came to Jack O' Lantern's house. "What a nice house!" said Nancy.

"I think it's a nice party," said the Pieman. "A very nice party. What shall we do with the refreshments? I brought a pie."

"Just set them all in the kitchen," said Mrs. John, Jack and Jill's mother.

So they set everything in the kitchen and then out they went again where there was more room. "What shall be played?" said Jack O' Lantern.

"Let's play Blind Man's Buff," said the Scare Crow.
